SOVIETS BLAME START OF WAR ON U.S., ALLIES

Moscow Says Proof of Charge Will Be Found in Captured Nazi Documents.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW Feb. 10—The Russians promised today to publish German documents which they said would prove their charge the western Allies paved the way for World War II.

Soviet information bureau announced last night the United States, Britain and France had, in relations with Germany, helped Adolf Hitler with the aim to launch the second world war.

The Russians said it was done with the golden rain of American dollars and by French and British diplomacy.

The Russian statement was in reply to the U. S. state department publication Jan. 21 of 260 documents captured from the files dealing with Russian-German relations prior to World War II.

The documents were published with the sanction of Secretary of State George C. Marshall. They said Germany and Russia agreed to divide Poland between them.

Agreed With Hitler

The documents also said the Soviet Union agreed with Hitler the United States and Britain should be kept out of Europe, Asia and Africa.)

Russia said its charges were supported by "important documents which were captured by Soviet troops during the smash-up of Hitlerite Germany."

Publication of these documents will help present the true picture of how Hitler's aggression and the second World War were in reality prepared and developed," the statement said.

Hitlerite aggression became possible firstly because the United States of America helped the Germans establish within a short period of time after the (first world) war an economic base for German aggression and secondly because the rejection of collective security by ruling Anglo-French circles disorganized the ranks of peace-loving countries."

All Moscow newspapers published the long statement in full but made no editorial comment. The official statement said the documents mentioned would be published "shortly."

The information bureau charged

▶"Golden rain of American dollars * * * fertilized heavy industry for Hitler Germany and in particular her war industry."

▶It was the billions of American dollars invested by overseas monopolies in the war economy of Hitler Germany that reestablished Germany's war potential and placed into the hands of the Hitler regime the weapons it needed for aggression."

▶In 1934 Great Britain and France maneuvered a non-aggression pact between Germany and Poland which was instrumental in the preparation of German aggression."

The statement asserted American financial aid to beaten Germany after World War I enabled the former reich quickly to reestablish a powerful war industry.

Deals with U. S. Action

The Soviet statement dealt at length on the U. S. state department's publication of Nazi documents.

"In order to justify in some way before world public opinion the unilateral publication of this collection of unverified and arbitrarily picked-out record by a "Hitlerite official" the statement said "the British and American press fabricated and circulated an explanation according to which the Russians rejected a proposal of the west to publish jointly the account of Nazi diplomacy."

The Russians said publication of the documents by the U. S. was a result of 'careful, objective verification" and "could lead to a worsening of relations between the member states of the anti-Hitlerite coalition."

FIRE RAZES HISTORIC MANSFIELD CHURCH

By The Associated Press

MANSFIELD, O., Feb. 10—Fire razed historic Mount Zion Lutheran church, about 12 miles southeast of here, early today.

Fire Chief Dale Peterson of Ontario estimated damage at $25,000 and expressed belief faulty wiring caused the fire.

The church built in 1866, had hand-hewn walnut pews and many old historical articles including a 36-star United States flag. The steeple bell and much of the church's furnishings had been gifts of its early congregations.

Members of the church had voted yesterday on an $12,000 improvement program. The improvements were about 80 per cent complete and included a new basement with Sunday School rooms.

One-third of the loss was covered by insurance, Peterson said.

ICE JAM WORST IN 30 YEARS

$2,000,000 Worth of Shipping Menaced in Cincinnati; Cold Idles Industries.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Feb 10 — The worst Ohio river ice jam in 30 years menaced an estimated $2,000,000 worth of shipping in the Cincinnati harbor today as other parts of Ohio, faced with diminishing gas supplies shivered in near-zero temperatures.

Slowly rising waters in the upper reaches of the 981-mile-long river threatened to turn loose more jagged floes on the local harbor which was damaged yesterday in the breakup of an ice jam several miles upstream.

Maj. Gen. Douglas L. Weart, Ohio river division engineer, in a statement last night describing the jam as the worst in 30 years, emphasized the 'seriousness of the situation," declaring "what the next few days may bring, no one can tell."

He added, however, the river was at least 30 feet below its 52-foot flood stage "and the weather bureau can foresee no rain or sufficient amount to cause any alarm."

A spokesman for the division engineers, who estimated the value of local shipping said although the river was packed with ice to Augusta, Ky. 50 miles upstream from Cincinnati, "any break-up along that stretch would pile more ice on the Cincinnati jam."

At least 10 towboats and their loaded barges, tied up in the ice-locked harbor here, might be crushed or punctured by a new avalanche of ice, he added. Numerous smaller craft, chiefly pleasure boats, faced the same threat.

Yesterday's break-up moved thousands of tons of ice into the local harbor causing "thousands of dollars" damage to small craft. The floating ice ground to a halt as it ran into another jam at Addyston, O., just below Cincinnati. The Addyston jam already extended downstream to Madison, Ind., a distance of 65 miles.

White House Denies Margaret Truman Is To Be Married

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10 — The White House said today President Truman's daughter, Margaret, is not engaged to be married.

Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross was asked about a published report that Frank Handy of Ypsilanti, Mich., would become engaged to Margaret soon. Handy is the son of G. C. Handy, publisher of the Ypsilanti Press.

'The answer is positively no," Ross said.

"Is she about to get engaged?" a reporter asked.

'Not to my knowledge," Ross said. "Margaret is not engaged to be married."

Mrs. Reathel Odum, secretary to Mrs. Truman, also said the report "definitely is not so."

Margaret herself could not be reached by reporters.

Young Handy said in Chicago he had no comment. His is attending a meeting of the Inland Daily Press Association there.

Told the report was in print, Handy said "I'd have to see it and perhaps make one or two long-distance calls before saying anything."

His mother said in Ypsilanti "any statement will have to come from Frank."

DEMOCRATS PROPOSE 2 CONVENTIONS

By International News Service

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10—Sen. Johnston (D) of South Carolina, proposed today that southern Democrats hold two conventions this year—the second to take a look at their party's civil rights plank.

Johnston advanced his idea as southern tempers continued to boil over President Truman's civil rights message and after Sen. Eastland (D) of Mississippi, called on the south to use its electoral votes to throw the presidential election into the house if possible.

Eastland asked the south to "stop the northern bosses in their tracks." He declared that if an electoral college majority failed, a southern Democrats would have a good chance of selection by the house.

Like Eastland Johnston called on southern politics to take an aggressive course.

American Freighter In Distress in Atlantic

TAFT ATTACKS PRICE POLICY

Declares Truman Talks About Inflation But Tries To Keep Prices Up.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Feb. 10—Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) declared today that "while President Truman talks about stopping inflation every department in government does everything it can to keep prices from dropping."

Here for a speech before the Inland Daily Press Association, the Ohio senator reiterated at a news conference charges that Secretary of Agriculture Anderson had sought to influence wheat prices for political reasons.

Anderson previously had written Taft denying he had announced a 50 million bushel prospective wheat purchase in order to keep prices up.

'Mr. Anderson's statement certainly was made for the purpose of trying to hold up the price of wheat," Taft declared.

"What other purpose could there have been?"

Taft, beginning a midwestern hunt for GOP presidential support, told reporters he thinks the administration is doing everything it can to keep prices from slumping.

"The moment anything begins to drop," he said "you hear about support programs.

"I don't think anything else could cause the administration so much concern as a recession before the November election."

In his prepared talk, Taft declared that individual freedom at home must be "the ultimate purpose of any foreign policy."

Cites Europe's Failure

Taft, who has called for a cut in the $6,800,000,000 proposed by President Truman for the first 15 months of the European recovery program, added:

"We should not be actuated by purely altruistic desire to improve the condition of a lot of other people who have failed for centuries to do the job for themselves."

The Ohioan said this country wants peace and freedom throughout the world. But, he continued, "it is certainly not worthwhile to adopt a foreign policy so burdensome on our people that it will destroy at home the very freedom we are trying to protect.

Fears Loss of Freedom

"We can't give away sums so large that they force controls and government regulation and high prices and shortages which threaten the very condition here at home we are trying to protect," he said.

Taft criticized what he termed the New Deal theory that a higher standard of living can be produced by "government handouts."

He said this country instead must "put a floor under the essential requirements of our lowest income families so that extreme hardship and poverty may be eliminated."

But he added that he is "very much opposed to a government program which will attempt to provide free medical care of all people, for free housing for all or for free subsistence."

Both Sides Raise Cry of "Politics"

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10—The cry of "politics" echoed on both sides today in the election year price feud between President Truman and Senator Taft (R-Ohio).

The latest jab came from Secretary of Agriculture Anderson.

Anderson said Taft, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, acted for "political reasons" when he declared the administration was trying to keep prices high for political gain.

There was no immediate reply from Taft who left for a mid-

Grain and Livestock Prices Still Sagging

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb 10—Grain prices which rallied yesterday from last week's break, resumed sharp drops today and livestock was selling at around yesterday's lowest price.

Meanwhile there were scattered reports of further declines in cost-of-living items.

The grain market at Chicago had hardly more than opened when wheat and oats were down three cents a bushel and corn dropped as much as 4½ cents.

Hog prices were at yesterday's lowest quotations at Chicago as suppliers put only 5,000 hogs on sale. The trade had expected 15,000 would be available to purchasers.

At New York, stocks were lower all along the line and cotton prices fell more than $1 a bale in early dealings.

Consumers were hopeful meat bargains after yesterday's sharp drop in livestock prices, but economists warned them not to be too optimistic.

Bacon, ham and steaks were tagged a little lower in many stores. Retail prices on flour, lard, sugar and bread also were down in some shops.

But the entire movement was on a relatively small scale and there was no certainty it was permanent.

Retail Prices Cut

Some chain stores began cutting retail prices yesterday when livestock nose-dived as the grain market rallied and got back on its feet after last week's break.

Hog prices fell to a top of $22.25 a hundred pounds, the lowest since Jan. 6, 1947. Cattle skidded as much as $3 a hundred pounds. Lamb dropped as much as $1.

While the livestock market was sliding sharply downward, the grain market was pushing ahead.

All grains contributed to the strong comeback — wheat, oats, corn. The price on corn, which was the worst actor of the three during last week's price fall, was up the limit of eight cents a bushel in a trading day.

Chicago market analysts expected grain to stabilize, temporarily at least, around present levels. Batting crop failures few believed prices would return to recent peaks.

Warn Against Optimism

Most economists, however, had a don't-be-too-sure attitude toward the retail price drops. There was a general feeling the consumer should not expect too much, too soon.

Most price analysts withheld judgment on the long-range implications. They preferred to watch trading over several more days before predicting what it would add up to for the American consumer.

A spokesman for the National Retail Meat Dealers association said at Chicago the break in livestock prices would show up on the retail level "by the end of this week."

The head of a large chain said it was impossible for anyone to predict further retail food prices without knowing whether the current break in the commodity markets is temporary or the beginning of a general trend.

In Champaign, Ill., the president of the American Farm Bureau federation urged farmers to shape their futures "by acting like farm prices were coming down still further."

Marion Livestock Prices Follow Trend

Livestock prices on the Marion market today continued the gradual decline which during the past week has seen top hogs drop from $27.25 to $22.50, today's price at the Marion Producers Livestock Co-op yards.

A week ago yesterday at the weekly auction top hogs, 180-240 lbs. brought $27.50. At yesterday's sale they were down to $23.05 and today off another 50 cents, reflecting unsettled conditions in the grain market following the price break of last week.

Prices offered at the sale yesterday for lambs and calves were off those of the preceding week sale. A week ago choice lambs were $24-$24.70 against $23.15 Monday and $22.50 to $23.50 today.

Choice calves a week ago brought $34 to $36.50. Yesterday's price was $32 to $33.75.

Grain Futures Break Sharply

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Feb. 10 — Grain futures broke sharply on the board of trade after the opening today. Brokers said general trading was influenced by liquidation in corn which was off as much as 4½ cents a bushel shortly after the start.

Wheat and oats broke around three cents a bushel.

Traders said the prospects of continued limiting of the use of grain by distillers had a disturbing effect on the already nervous corn market. Prospects of bet-

APPEAL TO CONSERVE GAS RENEWED HERE

Situation Reported Critical as Mercury Drops Again.

With the latest cold wave continuing throughout Ohio and the country today the fuel gas situation has become increasingly critical.

Charles E. Sechrist, manager of the local office of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. which serves Marion and area and other parts of the state, said this morning that company officials are appealing to everybody, all users of fuel gas, especially commercial users and small industries, to conserve every bit of gas they possibly can. He explained that the pressures were not built up last night as they usually are each night and that the supply is very low.

Temperatures in Marion dropped to one degree above zero again last night after rising only to a high of 20 degrees during the day. By 8 a. m. today, the mercury had risen only to two above zero. A year ago, thermometers

Communist Leader Held for Deportation

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 10 — John Williamson, labor secretary of the American Communist party, was arrested by F. B. I. agents at his home today on a deportation warrant.

Described by the agents as a native of Scotland, Williamson was taken to Ellis Island. Immigration service officials announced he would be held there pending a hearing on the warrant.

A justice department official said in Washington Williamson was "the most important figure in the Communist party" against whom the department has taken action so far.

Williamson, whose home was given as Ohio when he was named secretary of the Communist Political Association preceding the 1944 presidential campaign, was arrested as he left his home in Upper Manhattan.

Gerhart Eisler, described by a house committee as America's "No. 1 Communist," also is held at Ellis Island on a deportation warrant.

The justice department said Williamson "has been posing as an American citizen for many years, whereas he is an alien."

Williamson has represented himself as a native of California, department officials said. He claimed, they added, that he was born there in 1902 or 1903 but that his birth records were destroyed in the San Francisco earthquake and fire.

Department officials described Williamson as a member of the "high policy board" of the Communist party in this country. They said he had been active in party affairs since he was a 15-year-old youngster in Seattle, Wash., in 1918.

The department files list Williamson as a one-time member of the Washington Socialist Labor party. They also show he served as an official of the Young Workers League, and later as national secretary of the Young Communist League.

The department said Williamson became an assistant to William Z. Foster, general chairman of the Communist party, when he came to New York in 1941. Previously he had worked in the party in Chicago and Cleveland.

318 HEAR TALK ON SELLING

Expert Speaks at 2nd Session of Retail Training Institute.

"A satisfied customer is still your best advertisement," Miss Amanda Thomas of Columbus, research secretary of the Ohio Council of Retail Merchants, advised her audience of 318 Marion merchandisers in the second session of the Retail Training Institute last night at Central Junior High school auditorium.

"Three things of primary interest to a prospective customer," Miss Thomas said, 'are price, the quality of the merchandise, and the manner of service employed in the selling."

She stressed that customers respond to friendly service and that a well-informed salesman displaying a wide variety of good merchandise with a willingness to satisfy the customers needs is quite likely to make a sale to that customer.

Appreciated Services

Merchandise with the price tag plainly in evidence is as pleasing to a customer as plenty of parking space near the store seeking her business, Miss Thomas stated.

A good salesman should have a professional attitude toward the job he or she is doing and should avoid employing annoying expressions such as "dearie" in conversation with the customer, said Miss Thomas. She added that friendly customer relations should be fostered by the salesman, and such friendly customer relations may be fostered in many ways, some of which are quite easy for a salesman and will pay off in sales dividends for both the salesman and the store.

Miss Thomas quoted an old Chinese proverb to prove her point "A man without a smiling face should not open a store."

"Courtesy," she pointed out, "is the lubricant that oils good business."

Confidence Essential

She said a good salesman must have confidence in what he is selling and he should do his utmost to assist the customer in arriving at a proper choice. It is just as important to him as it is to the customer to avoid losses to himself and to the store caused by the return of ill fitting or unsatisfactory merchandise.

Do not type your customer, Miss Thomas added, for the lady who is in a rush today may have all tomorrow afternoon to shop. "Above all things," she cautioned, "justify the customers' confidence in you as a salesman, do not make false promises about scarce merchandise or anything else, always be courteous, even if you're not feeling your best, and be sure that your customer's merchandise is properly wrapped. Failure to observe these three basic rules are among the greatest sins a salesman may commit."

Panel Discussion Held

As a supplement to her address, "The Customer Speaks Her Mind," Miss Thomas gave the customer a chance to do that very thing by bringing on stage a panel of typical customers and salespersons for an audience participation round table discussion.

BLAZE GUTS SMALL HOME

Aid Sought for Thompson St. Mother and Five Young Children.

The home and all the personal possessions of a Marion World War II veteran, his wife and five small children were lost in a fire which gutted a two-story five-room house at 378 Thompson street shortly after 11 o'clock last night.

The family consists of Vernis Street, who served both in the Navy and Army, his wife, Mrs. Edna Street and their five children, Barbara 9, John 6, Danny 4, Jimmy 3, and Tommy, age seven months.

Today an appeal is being made for clothing and also household furnishings to care for the family.

The mother and children are at the home of Mrs. Street's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jones of 474 Scranton avenue, and the father is enrolled in a school in Chicago where he is studying aeronautic electronics.

Fire's Origin Unknown

Origin of the fire can not be determined, Chief Owen A. Sifritt said today. Mrs. Street, and the children had been at her brother's home since Sunday, as two of the children, Tommy and Danny had been ill, and their own home could not be sufficiently heated because of repairs being made to windows.

She had gone home earlier in the evening to start a fire, preparatory to taking the children home but was unsuccessful and returned to her brother's home to spend the night. A neighbor advised her that her home was on fire about 11 p. m. Firemen from Central station were called and extinguished the blaze. The loss is estimated at around $2,500. It is not known whether the house, owned by George W. Lee of Richwood, is insured. The land upon which the house stands is the property of the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad. The contents of the house are a total loss, Chief Sifritt said.

In Destitute Condition

The family is practically destitute for clothing and a place to live, Chief Sifritt said. In a telephone conversation with a reporter today Mrs. Street said the only clothing they have is what she and the children are wearing. However, Barbara and John are in school at the Silver street building today, after their mother hurriedly laundered the clothes they wore yesterday.

Mr. Street, who was discharged from the Army last June, served two years in the Navy during World War II. He went to Chicago to take up his study of aeronautics about two weeks ago, Mrs. Street advised him of their loss in a letter today, she said.

Present Residence Overcrowded

It will be impossible to remain at the Jones' home very long, Mrs. Street said today, as they have four children and only a five-room house.

Mrs. Street's sister, Mrs. Beulah Irene Laird, who was fatally burned in an explosion and flash fire Jan. 17, died Feb. 4 at the City hospital.

NEW MARION PLANTS LISTED

Industries Established in Marion, C. of C. Reports.

Establishment of three new industries in Marion is announced in the Chamber of Commerce February news bulletin issued today.

They are the Merchant Machine manufacturing company, the Acme Welding and Manufacturing co. and the W. H. Harper and C. W. Gatewood enterprise.

The Merchant company recently completed a factory building on Harper road to manufacture automatic paint machines. Owners are J. Howard Merchant, Don Merchant and Carl L. Scott.

The Acme company is located in the former garage building of the Marion Rapid Transit Co. on Woodrow avenue at Davids street. It manufacturers auto wrecker bodies, derricks and towing equipment in addition to doing general welding. G. J. Fleming is general manager of the company.

W. H. Harper and C. W. Gatewood of 258 Uncapher avenue, are setting up facilities to manufacture store and window fixtures and show cases.

Bank Opening Scheduled

The bulletin also carries the announcement that the newly remodeled banking rooms of the National City bank will be open for public inspection from 6 to 9 p. m. Friday Feb. 27.

Under the heading Chamber of Commerce Action, it is announced that representatives of the various bus lines operating through Marion are being invited to a conference in the near future with city officials, chamber officals, chairmen of civic affairs, legislative, streets and highways and transportation committees and other interested groups to try to solve the problem of locating a new bus terminal.

New Managers Listed

Under retail news, welcome is extended seven new managers who recently arrived in Marion. They are Charles Kellog, The Elephant Lumber company; C. E. Durfey, Fresh Meats, Inc.; Mrs. Glenn Whaley, the Holly Shop; Don Utz, Palace theater; Leonard Rentz, Sears and Roebuck; Forrest Cass, Sutton and Lightner shoe department and Sherman Spear, White Front Meat Market.

In the bulletin report on business factors for January as compared to January 1947, increases are noted in all major categories with one exception, that of industrial employment. The employment figures for January 1948 is listed as 9,565 against 10,231 for January 1947. This differences may be explained by temporary layoffs in two industries. In other major factories employment is higher than last year, the Chamber of Commerce reports.

Other business factors show these increases over January 1947: Bank debits $32,669,203 against $29,357,463; postal receipts, $28,208 against $21,091; new cars, 115 against 95; water meters, 8,676 against 8,385; gas meters, 10,445 against 10,206 and electric meters 11,034 against 10,739.

Horse with Halitosis Sends Coal Miners Home

By The Associated Press

SYDNEY, Feb. 10—A pit pony's reputed bad breath has caused 150 coal miners near Newcastle to walk off the job.

They went home complaining the pony had halitosis. They were in full disagreement with their own and management representatives who smelled the pony's breath and proclaimed it free of odor.

The Daily Mirror said today the management had "offered to replace the horse or alternatively mix sweet-smelling musk with the chaff."

The miners haven't said yet whether they'll accept that.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

IF MY father was testing Carlotta Carroll's poise under difficult circumstances, he was leaving nothing to chance, I told myself, as he followed up his announcement that she was to tell us herself of the plan Mr. "K." had outlined to him, with a terse request to his host.

"Harry," he said, "will you please bring a chair up here next to mine?" Then, as Harry Underwood rose in swift obedience, my father added: "And, Miss Carroll, will you please come up here and sit in it? You will find that it is far easier to face an audience that way."

If she thought with amusement of her radio broadcasts, there was no hint of it in her lovely mobile face as she rose, went to the chair Harry Underwood had placed for her, and sat down in it. And as she faced us all with her child-like radiant smile of friendliness, I felt my heart—at first chilled by her remarkable likeness to Grace Draper—warming toward her.

For the resemblance was remarkable, even though there was a difference in details. She was not quite as tall as Grace, although she carried herself with the same distinction. Grace's hair had been pure gold. This girl's was the gorgeous red gold which appears to belong to those women who have Irish blood in their veins, as, of course Carlotta Carroll had. Her father must have been a descendant of one of the Irish adventurers who carved fortunes out of certain South American countries, who married girls of those countries, and founded families which eventually lost all trace of any language save that of the Spanish tongue.

Her eyes, large, lustrous, looking like dark velvet pansies, were almost black, the nearest to that color that eyes have, while Grace Draper's were dark brown. But their exquisitely chiseled features were surprisingly alike while their creamy, rose splashed coloring was almost identical.

It was when she began to speak that one lost the resemblance. Grace Draper's voice had been musical enough, but it had nothing of the warmth, and of the life-infused expression which Carlotta possessed. It would make no difference, I told myself whether she recited the Lord's prayer, some nursery rhymes, or a column of figures, she would hold the attention of her audience.

But my father was speaking again, and I forced my attention in his direction.

"You will be glad to know, Miss Carroll," he said, "that we have procured for you the notepaper, and the envelope bearing the royal crest of exiled Queen Olga of Transvania. She also has been kind enough to send you samples of her signature and other handwriting."

Carlotta's laugh was a bit nervous.

"Heavens!" she said. "That sounds exactly as if I were a forger."

But my father was imperturbable.

"That is exactly what you will be," he said. "I trust that you will be a clever one. Much depends on your skill."

"I used to be considered pretty good at boarding school," she said with a reminiscent chuckle. "I used to do the lessons for my pals in their own handwriting, and I never got caught."

There was the pride of a child, in her voice as she gleefully gave this reminiscence of her early girlhood, and my father was not alone in the comradely smile he gave her. But he brought her back to the present with a round turn.

"If you'll just give us an idea of how you intend to proceed," he said.

In her glance at him was a touch of bewilderment, and he added a corollary.

"Suppose you tell us first your reasons for suggesting this procedure to Mr. 'K.'," he said.

The Memoirs of Cordell Hull

Hull Employs Deft Diplomatic Policy In Handling Russia

INSTALLMENT XIV

OMINOUS developments in northeastern Europe were drawing our anxious attention while congress debated the neutrality bill. Russia was engaging in a wide movement to outline new strategic borders for herself along the Baltic. She was evidently seeking to increase her protection against foreign nations, but an estimate of the military situation disproved that it could be the Allies, to whom the Baltic was forbidden by German might. Obviously Stalin was still preoccupied over Germany, placing no more trust in Hitler's word contained in the non-aggression agreement of August, 1939, than did the Allies.

While we could sympathize with Russia's efforts to protect herself against Germany, we were anxious lest her moves lead to an extension of the European conflict.

After her agreement with Germany she was like a catfish lying in the mud waiting for anything to come along. At the end of September and October she was able, without using military force, to bring the small Baltic states of Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania within her orbit. Through a variety of pressures she induced them to grant her a number of strategic bases, and stationed 20,000 troops in each of the three countries. Since nominally Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania retained their governments and independence, there was no diplomatic step we felt called upon to take.

The same pressures, however, did not work in the case of Finland. That doughty little nation gave every evidence of fighting rather than yielding.

OUR RELATIONS WITH RUSSIA were now unfortunately complicated by an incident to an American freighter, "City of Flint." (The ship, carrying a mixed cargo to Britain, was captured on October 9, 1939, by the German pocket - battleship "Deutschland" and taken by a prize crew to Tromso, Norway, and then to the Russian port of Murmansk. The ship's stay at Murmansk occasioned American representations concerning the rules governing maritime warfare.)

The negotiations between Russia and Finland were proceeding during the course of the "City of Flint" incident, but they were going badly. The Soviet demands for frontier changes and for the cession of island bases in the Gulf of Finland were regarded by Finland as likely to impair her independence. The negotiations broke down on November 13, and relations between the two countries rapidly worsened. On the afternoon of November 28 Ambassador Bullitt telephoned me from Paris that the Soviet Union had just denounced its non-aggression treaty with Finland and would attack Finland in the immediate future. He suggested that if our government could do anything in the circumstances we had better do it quickly.

I TOOK THIS UP at once with the President, and we decided to extend our good offices to Finland and Russia to compose the dispute, if they were willing. I accordingly dispatched a message to Moscow and Helsinki in which I said our government was following with serious concern the intensification of the Finnish-Soviet dispute, and added: "It would view with extreme regret any extension of the present area of war and the consequent further deterioration of international relations. Without in any way becoming involved in the merits of the dispute, and limiting its interests to the solution of the dispute by peaceful processes only, this government would, if agreeable to both parties, gladly extend its good offices."

Finland welcomed our offer but Russia felt there was no occasion for good offices. On the following day Stalin announced his attack on Finland, including the bombing of several cities.

We were bitterly disappointed at this further outbreak of hostilities. The President, after we had talked it over, made a strong press statement the day after war began, in which he said, "All peace-loving peoples in these nations that are still hoping for the continuance of relations throughout the world on the basis of law and order will unanimously condemn this new resort to military force as the arbiter of international differences." He also addressed appeals to Finland and Russia to refrain from bombing civilian populations.

CONSTANTINE OUMANSKY
Russian Ambassador In Clash with U. S.

AMBASSADOR STEINHARDT in Moscow cabled me that, when he presented this appeal to Foreign Commissar Molotov, the latter categorically denied that Soviet air forces had bombed civilian populations or unfortified cities or had any intention of doing so. (Our Legation in Helsinki had cabled us a number of instances of Soviet bombings of open cities.) Steinhardt said he received the impression, during his conversation with Molotov, that the foreign commissar did not want third party mediation, and that Russia began the war in order to liquidate the Finnish question at the earliest possible moment and be free for developments in the Balkans and Black Sea area or from the direction of Germany.

We now decided to extend to Russia our moral embargo on the export of airplanes, already in effect with regard to Japan.

The President and I early decided not to apply the Neutrality Act to the Russo-Finnish conflict. As a government we could not send arms to Finland, but we did not wish to prevent the sale of arms by private exporters, if they desired. Furthermore, our shipping was already prevented from entering the Baltic by the combat zone proclaimed for the European war. Finally, we still wanted to refrain from making Russia a legal belligerent. I could not but feel that the basic antagonisms between Communist Russia and Nazi Germany were so deep, and Hitler's ambitions so boundless, that eventually Russia would come over to the side of the Allies. We had to be careful not to push her in the other direction.

THE STATE OF OUR OWN unhappy relations with the Soviet Union was exemplified by an incident at the beginning of December. Ever since we had established the relations with Russia in 1933, our consular officials there had been subjected to numerous restrictions which we would not have thought of applying to similar foreign officials in this country. Their movements were restricted, they were kept under surveillance, and their baggage was searched as they arrived or departed.

Finally we decided to see whether an instance of the same treatment applied on this side might not call the attention of the Russians, more emphatically than diplomatic protests, to their neglect of the usual courtesies. When the Soviet foreign office requested a "laissez-passer" (a document that would exempt the bearer from customs examination) for a new vice consul going to New York, Ambassador Steinhardt in Moscow replied that we would be glad to issue one if we could have assurances that in the future the Soviet government would issue similar documents to American consular officers desiring to enter or leave the Soviet Union. The Soviets refused Steinhardt then suggested that when the vice consul arrived in New York, his baggage should be searched by custom officials.

This was accordingly done. Thereupon, on December 7, Ambassador Oumansky telephoned Assistant Secretary Messersmith and protested vigorously. He was informed that the baggage of the vice consul had been examined because the baggage of American consuls entering or leaving Russia was examined, and it was our practice to apply the principle of reciprocity.

OUMANSKY CONTENDED that questions of this kind should be handled on the most-favored-nation principle. This meant that the Soviets would treat our consuls as well as they treated the consuls of any other country, and we should treat their consuls as well as we treated the consuls of any other country.

The ambassador was informed however, that this government had handled such matters for many years on the basis of reciprocity, meaning that we would treat Soviet consuls as well as the Soviets treated our consuls.

Oumansky thereupon asked us to ascertain, on his behalf, whether his government was accustomed to examine the baggage of our consuls entering the Soviet Union. In response to our request, Ambassador Steinhardt sent us a list of such instances.

Since the President was interested in this exchange, I sent him a memorandum prepared by Messersmith. On December 22 he replied in a memorandum saying:

"Your memorandum of December sixteenth in regard to Soviet restrictions against American citizens connected with the diplomatic corps is excellent, and I think we should match every Soviet annoyance by a similar annoyance here against them.

"When it comes to the larger questions of downright rudeness on the part of Stalin, Kalinin or Molotov we cannot afford to repay such rudeness with equivalent rudeness over here. But I am inclined to think that the day may come soon when it will be advisable to bring the situation to the direct attention of Oumansky. He can well be told that the failure of his government to answer my telegram regarding bombardment of citizens and the failure of his government to let our ambassador communicate with the "City of Flint" tend to show such a complete disregard for the ordinary politeness and amenities between civilized governments that the President hereby wonders whether the Soviet government considers it worthwhile to continue diplomatic relations. We need go no further than this but it would put a certain burden on the Soviet government itself."

INTERPRETER NEEDED. Because the International War Tribunal in Tokyo could find no one to translate "modern Mongolian" into English, the testimony of Puntsugin Chogdan (above), chief of the investigation section of the state security detachment of Mongolia, had to go unexplained in court. Chogdan was called to stand by the Russian prosecution.

WE GOT THIS IDEA across to the Russians, but there was no swerving them from the attitude of suspicion toward all foreigners they had inherited from many generations of Russian officials.

These minor irritations from Russia continued to rankle in the President's mind. After I sent him a cable from Ambassador Steinhardt informing us that long-distance calls could no longer be made from the Embassy in Moscow except by personal appearance at the central telephone station, he wrote me this memorandum on January 10, 1940:

"I am wondering whether we might apply the same rule to the Russian Embassy here—or at least tell Oumansky we are thinking of doing it. What is sauce for the goose might well be sauce for him too! F.D.R."

A later cable from Steinhardt however, indicated that this difficulty had been straightened out.

Although we did not hesitate to speak up to Russia when the occasion required, I still made it a basic policy to retain as good relations with the Soviet Union as possible, and never to give her the slightest impression that we were either a present or potential enemy. The door was always wide open to friendship, and I was willing to meet Russia at least halfway.

New Orleans Goes On Mardi Gras Bender

By The Associated Press

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 10—New Orleans went on its annual Mardi Gras bender today, celebrating a modern version of the world's oldest surviving festival.

The people dressed in fantastic costumes, staged gaudy parades, clambered over one another to see the costumes and parades, danced in the streets.

The pre-Greek shepherds who started the business 5,000 years ago might have been a bit surprised if they had chanced upon the scene. But nobody would have noticed them—what with folks disguised as decks of cards and aspirin bottles, gypsies and convicts, apes and ballet dancers.

Today—Mardi Gras itself, Shrove Tuesday, a day of fun before the Lenten austerity—winds up a carnival season that started on Twelfth Night, Jan. 6. The festivities thus far have included a dozen public parades and several dozen balls.

VALENTINE DANCE PARTY PLANNED BY NAVY CLUB

Final plans were made for a Valentine Dance party to be held Saturday night by the Marion Navy club, at its regular meeting Monday night. Music will be furnished by Carl Prusnek, local Navy recruiter.

Arrangements were made to send Dwight Altman and Floyd Seaton, committeemen, with Sea Scouts Lumpkins and Buckingham to a Sea Scout rendezvous to be held in Toledo, Saturday. The Toledo meeting has been called to map out district activities for the summer season.

The Navy club basketball committee announced that its team, now tied for second place in the veterans' league, had drawn the V.F.W., league leaders, for the first game of the second round, to be played next Monday night at the Armory.

Traffic Signs Wait On Break in Weather

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS—Approximately $3,200 worth of traffic safety signs are awaiting a break in the weather for erection by the city service department, Service Director W. F. Pfleiderer said today. The signs were ordered as a part of a movement to assure greater traffic safety within the city.

Meanwhile the accident rate in the city continues to mount with the first month in 1948 bringing 34 traffic mishaps, just double the figure for January 1947.

The accident rate has been steadily increasing since 1945 when 146 accidents were investigated by the police department during the entire year. In 1946 accidents totaled 240 and 1947 mishaps reached 345. Twenty-two persons received injury in traffic accidents in 1945; 57 were hurt in 1946 and in 1947, 73 were injured.

In an effort to cut down the increase accident rate 62 traffic regulation violators were arrested during January, records show.

Typographical Union Plans for Election

The Spell Is Broken

THE main wallop of what has happened to a few key commodity prices seems likely to be the fact it happened—not the immediate consequences. There were love taps.

For the first time since the end of the war the trend of prices in a few important lines has been reversed suddenly. Just exactly what caused this to happen is vague. It may have been the prospect of a good crop year, something done or not done by the government, a turning point in the psychology of inflation—or a combination of all of them plus others.

The important consequence is that prices which had been threatening to go higher reversed themselves and went lower instead. The spiral of inflation, which the public had been watching in fascination because it seemed destined to whirl upward forever, finally faltered and whirled downward briefly. The spell is broken. It can happen here, the same way it always has happened everywhere. The discovery is obvious, but vital.

Permanent License Plates

THE time is approaching when Ohio motorists again will line up for new license plates. Many a driver will be faced with the task of memorizing his new number and forgetting his old one. Some will be miffed because they don't get the numbers requested.

Connecticut eliminates these difficulties by issuing permanent plates—handsome stainless steel oblongs that stay on once they are put on. The state has saved $250,000 in steel bills alone since the plates were issued six years ago. In addition there is the time saved in keeping registry records.

There may be an idea in this for Ohio.

Consolidating the Budget

ONE way to make a start toward curbing federal expenditure is to consolidate expenditures in an omnibus budget bill. Until that step is taken, estimates of expenditures will be little more than guesswork based on a dozen or more appropriation bills prepared by as many committees and subcommittees.

There are drawbacks to such a plan. Government bureaus sometimes overspend. Occasionally there are unexpended balances. Often it is necessary to appropriate funds over a period of years, so that the sum appropriated at one session may be a total far different from the cash outlay for that year. But these deviations are comparatively minor and would be reduced as congress got control of federal finances.

Admittedly it would not be easy to gather all the necessary data within the purview of a single committee but the result would justify the effort. Congress would then have a firm figure to match against anticipated revenue and could, if necessary, provide for additional revenue.

Such a plan would give congressmen an excuse for voting for an unbalanced budget. Such a provision would enable congress to regain control of federal expenditures, which the Constitution assumes it will have.

The Pace That Kills

THE congressional committee looking into disability pensions paid retired regular Army and Navy personnel has made some interesting discoveries.

It found that 87.4 per cent of Army officers holding the rank of major and above who have retired since 1940 are receiving disability pensions, whereas only 63.4 per cent of retiring Naval officers of similar rank claimed disability. The incidence of disability among Army majors was particularly high—99 per cent, compared with 75 for Navy lieutenant commanders. Majors, indeed, must be driven at the pace that kills.

Is Army rank so fraught with risk and responsibility that it wears men down faster? Or are Army and Navy retiring boards reading different meanings into the regulations?

Semantics Lesson

THE dictionary defines semantics as the science of meanings, including such phenomena as the expansion of meanings.

Geoffrey Crowther, editor of the London Economist, a meaning-expander from 'way back, indulges in a semantical exercise to prove that Stalin is a capitalist. He says that, according to Marx, the capitalist holds out part of production and puts it into capital, which, to Marx's way of thinking, was the same as stealing from the worker's pocket. Well, says Crowther, Stalin is holding back part of the fruit of the Russian worker's labor and putting it into more dams, more railroads, more factories. Judged by the fundamental test, says Crowther, the United States and Russia are on the same side of the fence.

By strict application of the definition of Communism, as Crowther interprets it, there is no truly Communist nation, only varying degrees of capitalism.

So instead of Communists, how about calling them Reds? Unless Mr. Crowther or some equally agile semanticist can prove that red is blue.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

Green Has Trouble Finding Director of His Campaign

THE idea was to organize a huge, non-partisan machine to drive from the congress those who voted for the Taft-Hartley bill. It was a total subordination of everything in American life to personal revenge, to the special interests of a particular group. That group is not the working man of America, the millions of men and women in shop, factory, mill, mine, transportation and services, but a special elite, a professional body of careerists who manage the affairs of labor unions.

SOKOLSKY

So, Mr. William Green, the front, as it were, for the elite, has been seeking a manager for this campaign. Naturally, he regarded himself as inadequate for such a purpose. He has been shopping for competence. Among those he is reported to have canvassed include such names as former Senator Robert La Follette, who needs something to do, also former Senator James Mead of New York, former Senator Neely of West Virginia. Finally, when there and the Lord knows who else turned him down, he focused on former Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana.

Now Senator Wheeler is nobody's fool and he can survive without the $20,000 a year which Bill Green held out as bait. He seems to be doing fine as a Washington lawyer. It is curious that Green should have offered that particular job to Senator Wheeler, whom the wild men of the left excoriated for years because Wheeler was so often right when they were wrong. He was an isolationist who warned the country correctly on the consequences of the war. They fought him and finally defeated him in Montana in a foul campaign in which more lies were told about Wheeler than ever had been told about any public man in recent years.

I take it that Green's offer to put all the fortunes of the professional labor leaders of the country in the hands of Burt Wheeler was an apology to the ex-senator of Montana for the shameless attacks upon a citizen whose greatest crime was to reject the crooked combination of politician and labor leader that characterized American life for 14 years. Green picked a good man and the fact that Wheeler turned down the proposition speaks well for his good humor and his sense of proportion.

Actually, the whole farcical business revolves about the fact that anyone with even the slightest political experience knows that Green's purge is a bad and dangerous business, as offensive to decent Americans as the attitude of certain industrialists in Mark Hanna's day who swore to throw men out of work if William McKinley failed to be elected. The shame of it all is that Green would even try to conduct such a campaign, would concentrate money and power and the coercion of the electorate because the representatives of the people chose to be true to their oath and to vote according to their conscience.

Job For Labor Leaders

It is satisfactory that Wheeler turned down the management of the absurd campaign. It is strictly the business of the professional careerists of labor and they ought to be permitted to manage it themselves. They ought to make speeches all by themselves, with the advice, of course, of their own specialized counsel. They ought to go into the purge, all of their own, without any false fronts. Let the people know exactly what the game is and who is playing at it.

As a matter of fact, the Taft-Hartley bill is working out surprisingly well. The number of strikes have been sharply reduced. An unexpectedly large number of disputes are again being settled by direct negotiations, by collective bargaining without government intervention. In spite of an agitation for a third round of wage increases, a more rational relationship is being established between management and labor.

Even on the question of the affirmation that a union official is not a Communist, a surprisingly large number of union officials have signed up. Those who did not have either to live under the suspicion of Communist affiliation or are conscientious objectors, like John L. Lewis, who are spoiling for a fight. That is not a matter that can be solved by a purge of the kind Bill Green wants Burt Wheeler to conduct.

The Boys Are Singing The Memphis Blues

The Memphis police commissioner last week seized and smashed four hundred juke box records.

Who said Petrillo didn't have a single friend?

The operators' anguish is readily understood . . . some of the discs destroyed were only seven or eight years old.

Still, Boss Crump is an ingenious citizen. And there's more ways than one to enforce an anti-noise ordinance.

At any rate, this is the biggest blow to the juke-box industry since Pistol Packin' Momma hit the sawdust trail.

In fact, about the only consolation it finds in its present plight is the thought that maybe, out of their troubles, may come a great new torch-song . . . "Lay that sledge-hammer down, Commish, Lay that sledge-hammer down . . ."

Private Planes Increasing

But Export Bans Give Industry New Worry.

AMERICA'S aircraft manufacturers turned out 16,023 planes of the private-owner type, valued at $53,206,000 in 1947, the Personal Aircraft Council of the Aircraft Industries Association reports.

Although these figures represent only about half the corresponding private-plane production for 1946, they were nearly two and a half times the industry's output in this field during 1941, its best prewar year.

Dwane L. Wallace, council chairman, said the latter fact indicated that "the industry is becoming well established as an important and necessary factor in our national transportation and economic picture." He added that the "growth of business and professional use of personal aircraft, in addition to its established place as a pleasure vehicle" should result in a continued upward production trend.

Other officials of the A. I. A. expressed concern over the announced intention of the Department of Commerce to re-establish wartime licensing restrictions on all exports to Europe on March 1. They said this move undoubtedly would have a serious effect on their foreign aircraft sales, especially in the private plane category, since one of its purposes is to stop shipment of "luxury" items.

It was pointed out in this connection that the aircraft industry's export of personal aircraft in 1947 showed an increase of 20 percent in units and 97 per cent in dollar value over 1946. The government is now trying to ban the shipment of everything except "essential goods" so that their dollar trade balances will not be dissipated on "unnecessary luxuries."

One aspect of the situation that is worrying both aircraft manufacturers and airline operators is that it apparently will be necessary to obtain a government export permit every time a spare part has to be shipped to Europe for a grounded air liner.

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Thursday, Feb. 10, 1938.

President Roosevelt asked congress for immediate appropriation of $230,000,000 to meet relief needs during the next four and one-half months.

It was announced that Earl J. Pierce of Davenport, Ia., had been appointed to succeed George Whysall as manager of the Marion Water Co. and would take up his work March 1. Mr. Whysall was to retire the following April 1.

J. F. Rapp of Richwood was elected president at the annual meeting of the Masonic officers association of the Fifteenth Masonic district, at Richwood. Guy Roux of LaRue was elected vice president and Harold Hall of Marion, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Gordon Larkin of Congress street entertained the Child Research club at a Valentine party at her home.

More than 1,000 women were in attendance at the afternoon session of The Marion Star's thirteenth annual cooking school in progress in the Star auditorium. Mrs. Bertha M. Harris was the instructor.

Two hundred thirty-two persons attended the annual birthday dinner held by the General Aid society of the First Presbyterian church, in the church parlors.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Friday, Feb. 10, 1928.

The Marion county board of commissioners announced it would "stand pat" on its original decision made several months previously against contributing county funds for eliminating dangerous grade crossings on state highways. They said the work clearly was the duty of the state highway department.

O. W. Kinnamon, Wesley M. Kang and Oscar J. Hord, all Republicans and members of the county board of commissioners, announced they would be candidates for reelection.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Moutz at their home in Pleasant township.

Mrs. Marshall McKinstry was hostess to the Ladies Embroidery circle at her home on South Prospect street.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Evans entertained a company of friends at a Valentine party at their home on Lincoln avenue.

Hopes of the Harding High school basketball team for the N. C. O. championship received a severe jolt in a defeat by Ashland at Ashland, 25 to 24. Evans pitched four field baskets for Harding. Gritz and Partridge three each and Cramer one.

Horns of A Dilemma

By Stewart and Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON—The first major task of the new National Security Council has turned out to be the preperation of an American Palestine policy. Representatives of the service and state departments are now wading through the vast mass of preliminary studies on this crucial question, with a view to recommending action to the President. The President has given clear signs of regretting his previous practice, of reaching decisions on Palestine on his own hook. It seems likely that the Security Council's recommendations will in this instance be followed when formulated.

It is time, and long past time, that some kind of workable Palestine policy should be prepared; for it is a simple statement of fact to say that catastrophe now threatens. On or about May 15, the last British troops are scheduled to withdraw from Palestine. There will then be no force to hold in check the Arab-Jewish fighting, which has already begun. With the barriers down, the experts are unanimous in expecting that a ghastly general blood bath will ensue. The measure of the blood bath is the common prediction of at least 1,000 casualties a day.

Every American official involved in the problem admits that if this situation is permitted to arise, there will be no way out, short of catastrophe. For if the blood bath in Palestine once gets started, negotiation will be impossible. There will then be only two alternatives.

First Alternatives

Alternative one will be inaction. Under this alternative no one will intervene to halt the conflict between Arabs and Jews. The Jews are brave and well organized. But the Arabs are also brave and though disunited are immeasureably more numerous than the Jews. Some expert opinion holds that the Jewish defense will ultimately be totally broken by the Arabs. At best, the experts anticipate that most of the great economic progress achieved by the Zionists will be destroyed; that the Jews will be driven from eastern Galilee and the Negeb and that they will be surrounded and beleaguered in the coastal strip around Tel Aviv. This is unthinkable.

Unfortunately, alternative two is also unthinkable. For if someone is to intervene to halt the Jewish-Arab conflict, after it has reached the blood bath stage, that someone must be the United States. United Nations officials have already informed the American policy-makers that it is hopeless, in these circumstances, to try to recruit a small nation Palestine force. If the blood bath begins, no force will enter Palestine without American (or Russian) troops at its head.

It is unthinkable that American troops should be sent to Palestine for two quite different sets of reasons. First, and most obvious, there are reasons of hard national self-interest. It is currently fashionable to dismiss national interests as beneath contempt. But it is a practical fact that the oil of the Middle East constitutes the only American reserve in a time of dwindling domestic supply, and that Western Europe is completely dependent upon the Middle East for this lifeblood of its economy.

The Marshall plan actually includes $600,000,000 for exploitation of Middle Eastern oil resources, as essential to Western Europe. But already pipeline construction in the Middle East has been halted by the present limited disorders. If American troops are sent to Palestine, the disorders will become a Holy war involving the whole Moslem world.

Pakistan Involved

President Truman now has on his desk a letter from President Jinnah of Pakistan, warning that even this distant state in India will plunge into the struggle. The American service departments accept as a matter of course that no American oil or other installations in the Middle East, not directly defended by armed forces, will survive the arrival of an American force in Palestine.

In short, if we send troops to Palestine, either on our own or on behalf of the United Nations, the whole Middle East will go up in flames. The loss of the oil resource will destroy the economic underpinnings of the non-Soviet world. And we shall be on the eve of the third World War. For the Soviet Union could never resist the temptation of such a disaster.

On the whole it does credit to the American policy-makers, that the above considerations have weighed rather less with them than the second set of reasons against sending U. S. troops to Palestine.

Any honest man, who faces all the facts of American life, good and bad, noble and ignoble, knows that the most sordid of all these facts is the presence in this country of a considerable strain of racial hatred. It is doubtful whether the Congress would agree to a Palestine expedition, even in obedience to the United Nations. But a mere serious proposal to send troops, let alone the actual sending of them, would fan the flames of racial hatred in a dangerous and terrible manner. This is the real reason why the second alternative of American military intervention in Palestine is as unthinkable as the first alternative of letting a Palestine blood bath run its cruel course.

If a blood bath in Palestine will confront us with only two alternatives, both of which will be utterly unthinkable, the only sensible course is obviously to try to prevent the blood bath from occurring. No more difficult task has ever been imposed upon American policy-makers.

Thoughts on Ski Fanatics.

This is the biggest skiing season America ever had. You can't look out of any window above the Mason-Dixon Line without seeing a flock of ski-shoomers zooming by in various positions of complete instability.

PHILLIPS

A ski enthusiast is a fellow who is happiest when he has both feet off the ground and is wearing the facial expression of a parachute trooper who suddenly realizes he jumped without the chute.

He is a guy who doesn't mind where he is so long as he is not right side up.

He is the Man on the Flying Trapeze minus the net.

More and more gals are taking it up. A female ski jumper is a girl who thinks the laws of gravity were written by Benny Goodman in collaboration with Olsen and Johnson. She is a snowbunny who doesn't care where she goes, provided her destination is vague and her arrival abrupt and embarrassing.

* * *

Put a damsel on a ski slide and you are witnessing a demonstration in bizarre behavior hitherto reserved for escapes via the fire roof by inmates of the Home of Wayward Girls. A making their getaway in the belief a couple of bedsheets made an ideal pair of shoes.

* * *

She goeth where she listeth and she landeth where it hurteth.

* * *

Once upon a time you could go to the snow hills of this country and find only ski jumpers who knew how to do it. Today every slope constitutes a convention site for a bevy of beginners, all of whom do not know where their next fracture is coming from.

* * *

They confuse the take-off from a snowy peak as the same as a leap from a boarding-house attic. Everything is jake with them if they come down the same season, with no navigable parts missing.

* * *

They can go deeper into the snow than a ten-ton plow and stay under longer than a lost dime in a blizzard. They are the Orphans of the Storm under Red Cross auspices.

* * *

As long as a ski artist had to climb back up the hill there was no mass participation. But for the last few years the ski slides have had mechanical towropes to haul them back, and now everybody can play, whether for fun, fresh air, suicide or to settle a bet.

* * *

Pass the buttered rum and put another log on the fire. We have tied a pine plank to each foot and are about to find out if we are man or jetplane.

Government Course

By International News Service

NEW YORK — Key municipal employes in New York City are going back to school to take "post graduate" courses in improving local government. The International City Managers' Association reported recently the opening of a unique school where city college professors will lecture on actual problems of various city departments. Sponsored by the city Committee on Administration, the school will assign plenty of "home-work" to its students.

Cotton Corners

By TRUMAN TWILL

Dear Nephew: I have been working on my income tax and trying to keep sweet and reasonable about a setup that tries a citizen's patience and challenges his horse sense.

No matter what excuses anyone may think up to make present taxes seem better than they are, the fact remains that if the Kremlin itself had been in charge of taking the starch out of the United States it couldn't have done a better job. Taxes are hitting capitalism where it lives—in the solar plexus of incentive.

No matter how good our intentions may have been—and no matter how much we need money for worthy purposes (all purposes are worthy aren't they?) we've loused up the source of our national gumption by surrounding producers with a wolf-pack of parasites. We've put a penalty on getting ahead, and if anyone is dumb enough not to know what that means he should read the Communist Manifesto of 100 years ago that called, among other things, for punitive income taxes to hasten destruction of the middle class.

When I was a kid we raised geese. We didn't raise 'em for golden eggs but for down, to stuff pillows with. We also had roast goose, but that was incidental. When we plucked the geese, the main thing was to get the down without hurting the goose, because if we hurt the goose we lost our source of income, and if we couldn't get income then the geese weren't self-supporting any more. It was crude economics, but it made an impression on me. I wish more people in this country had raised geese. They'd be better educated about taxes.

We're destroying the source of public income. The federal government takes what it wants, which is too much, then everybody else plays and takes what's left. Because of this primitive system of plucking the goose, we find the federal government with more than it knows what to do with efficiently—itching to spend more billions here, there and everywhere—while local government is up against it for enough money to buy the ordinary necessities of community life. My tax money can be used to build a road across some poobah's plantation in Mexico, but let me try to get a chuckhole fixed in front of my filling place here at the Corners and my fellow citizens that I elect to take care of my needs tell me they can't afford it. It doesn't make sense.

Give my regards to the family, and now I'll wrestle some more with my income tax. Maybe I should pay out good money to some sucker to tell me how to do it but if the time ever comes that I can't understand my own taxes I'll call all I have to the gimme-more boys and apply for relief. I'm disgusted.

Columbus Minister Addresses Bible Class

Dr. Floyd Faust, pastor of the Broad Street Church of Christ in Columbus and a student of family life, spoke at the luncheon meeting o fthe Wednesday Noon Bible class at the Y.M.C.A. last week. In the course of his message he quoted statistics on marriage and divorce, pointing out that in 1870, in this country only five out of every 100 marriages ended in divorce, while in 1945, one out of every five were broken by divorce proceedings.

He then placed the blame for the situation in part on the early training of the children who later became the husbands and wives in the divorce cases, and made a plea for return to strict and consistent home discipline. "Fathers should prepare their sons and daughters to accept authority and discipline," he declared, "then transfer respect for the authority and discipline of their parents to respect for the authority of God."

He further commented that "The 'front line trench' of America runs down the church aisle and the school aisle."

The subject for this week's meeting, "What Russians Are Teaching Their Children," will be presented by Arthur H. Smith, Marion county agricultural extension agent.

Junior C. of C. Plans Regional Meeting

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS — Between 75 and 100 Jaycees from Marion, Mansfield, Galion, Plymouth and Shelby are expected in Bucyrus Sunday Feb. 29 for the regional meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Carl Beikofer, Cleveland, treasurer of the U. S. Jaycees will be the principal speaker.

SCOUTS TELL STORY OF LONG CANOE TRIP

"Voyage" Into Canada Described for Lions Club.

In keeping with the current observance of Boy Scout Week, three local Scouts and one Scout executive of the group which took a canoe trip into Canada last summer described the trip and showed colored slides at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Lions Club Monday at Hotel Harding.

James Wanner, Fred Lacey and Robert Rinnert described the trip and the pictures were shown by Owen Meddles, field Scout executive. The trip, which was 120 miles by land and water, was taken by 11 senior Scouts and two leaders, Karl Bechtle and Mr. Meddles.

James Wanner described the complete trip, that two men were assigned to a canoe, told of things they saw, such as an Indian grave, and that part of the time was spent in fishing. Fred Lacey described the feeling of solitude and peace of mind which the boys had while on the trip, and Robert Rinnert told of the experiences he and his partner had when their canoe upset.

Mr. Meddles explained that the trip was taken to determine if the training given the Scouts here could be applied in actual situations. He said that more trips are being planned.

In a check of Lions members, it was determined that 22 are connected with some phase of Scouting.

An announcement was made of the charter night banquet March 1.

Guests were Eddie Steele of Birmingham, Mich., Richard Appleman of Cincinnati, Robert Sansbury of Canal Winchester, and W. F. Lynch and E. A. McRobie of Cleveland. Cubs present were Robert Ruth, Owen Meddles and Jack Hanley.

"World Security" Group Seeks Bucyrus Support

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS—Introduced by Miss Mary Beer, the "Workers for World Security" movement made its advent here Thursday when a petition was circulated for the signatures of members of the American Association of University women. The movement was launched in Cleveland and is endorsed by Gov. Thomas Herbert, ex-governor Frank Lausche and other prominent personages and churchmen.

Aim of the movement is "To save the world from an atomic war."

CHURCH GROUP MEETS

At a meeting of the Woman's society of Trinity Baptist church held in the church parlors Thursday afternoon a nominating committee including Mrs. Louise Somerlot, Mrs Herbert Brewer and Mrs. C. G. Ritzler was appointed. A contribution was made for work of the Council of Churches. It was voted to take part in the council project of providing a milk bottle at the door at the church to receive contributions for purchase of milk for undernourished children overseas. Mrs. Ralph Epley made announcement of the denominational Day of Prayer to be held at Green Camp, and of the World Day of Prayer observance of the Council of Church Women next Friday. Mrs. George Wingett reported she had sent cards and notes to sick persons and shutins. Mrs J. B Holloway asked members to send Valentine greetings to young people away at college.

A program was in charge of Mrs. Elyss Bonner. Devotions were by Mrs. F. C. VanNoy, and program topic, "Even So Send I You as Modern Apostles," was presented by Mrs. Somerlot, Mrs. Truman Faith, Mrs. Dail Gorman, Mrs. Earl Peters, Mrs. Walter Bibler, Mrs. Harwood Taylor, Mrs. Frank Kette, and Mrs. E. C. Kimball.

Painters, Decorators At Dinner Meeting

About 50 painters and decorators of Marion were present at a dinner meeting Monday night at Hotel Harding given by the Marion Paint Co. The affair was a form of a get-together with discussions held on painting and papering. Any new ideas which have come up recently were also passed along. Speaker was Arthur Masse of Columbus, president of the Dean and Berry Paint Co. of Columbus. A talk was also given by Raymond Cassidy of Glens Falls, N. Y., associated with the Imperial Paper and Color Co.

Couple Exchange Vows in Church Near Green Camp

A gown of heavy white satin was worn by Miss Ada M Haberman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E Haberman of west of Green Camp, for her marriage Saturday evening to Dr Russell F. Portman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Portman of near Amherst. Fashioned with a tight fitting bodice, the low off-the-shoulder style neckline was trimmed with a wide lace ruffle, and a high portrait neckline was formed with a fine net inset. The long sleeves ended in points over the hands and the bodice, scalloped at the waistline, was outlined in cable cord and joined the full skirt which extended into a long train. Her lace trimmed veil of tulle was held in place by a satin coronet, and her jewelry was a single strand of pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with an orchid.

Preceding the bride to the altar was her college roommate, Miss Marjorie Kibler of Elyria, as maid of honor, Miss Elizabeth Haberman as bridesmaid, little Miss Sheryl Hoffman, cousin of the bride, as flower girl, and Johnny Hoffman, Sheryl's brother, as ring bearer.

Miss Kibler and Miss Haberman wore gowns fashioned alike of fuchsia moire with a net inset and moire ruffle accenting the neckline and a scalloped bodice joining the full skirt. The maid of honor carried a colonial bouquet centered with a fuchsia glamellia, and the bridesmaid's bouquet was centered with a white glamellia. The flower girl, in a gown of white taffeta, scattered rose petals, and the ring bearer, dressed in navy blue, carried the rings on a satin pillow.

The candles were lighted by Misses Norma Jean Albert of Marion and Bonnie Lee Cherp of Bellville, both cousins of the bride. They were attired in dresses of blue taffeta and wore waist corsages of pink carnations.

Richard Conrad, a student at Ohio State university, was best man, and ushers were Robert Hoffman of Caledonia, cousin of the bride, and Melvin Kolbe of Morgantown, W. Va., brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

The double ring ceremony was read at 7.30 o'clock in the evening in the Evangelical and Reformed church west of Green Camp by the pastor, Rev. Edgar Guinther. The altar was decorated with bouquets of white gladioli in the two altar vases with ferns at either side. Tall lighted cathedral candles were held in two seven-branch candelabra.

A half-hour program of nuptial music was presented preceding the ceremony by Miss Dorothy Haberman of Marion, cousin of the bride, as pianist, and John Haberman, brother of the bride, as soloist. Miss Haberman's selections included "Venetian Love Song," "Sweetest Story Ever Told," "Serenade," "Love's Greeting," "Because," "Through the Years," "One Alone," and the traditional wedding marches. Mr. Haberman sang "At Dawning," "I Love Thee," "I Love You Truly," "Beloved, It Is Morn," and at the close of the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer."

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Haberman chose a dress of black silk crepe with aqua trim with which she combined black and white accessories. Mrs. Portman was attired in a black silk crepe gown and wore black accessories. Each wore a corsage of red roses.

A reception for 150 guests at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony. Decorations were carried out in white and green and a three-tiered wedding cake centered the bride's table. Serving were Mrs. G. L Cherp of Bellville, Mrs. Esther Frazier and Mrs. Delmar Brewer of Marion, and Mrs. Melvin Kolbe of Morgantown, W Va.

When the couple left on a wedding trip to Florida, Mrs. Portman was wearing a dusty rose gabardine suit with brown accessories. Over her costume, she wore a white wool shortie coat to which she pinned her bridal orchid.

Mrs Portman, a graduate of Heidelberg college, has been a teacher in the Oberlin schools for the last three years. Dr. Portman is a graduate of Ohio State university in veterinary medicine. For the last two years he has been practicing in Concord, N. H.

Out-of-town guests were from Columbus, Bucyrus, Tiffin, Amherst, Elyria, Cleveland, Oberlin, Vermilion, Kenton, Bellville West Virginia and Indiana.

At a rehearsal party Friday evening in the church social rooms at which the bride's parents entertained, the bride and bridegroom presented gifts to their attendants.

ACTRESS DECORATED FOR WAR WORK. Lovely screen star Madeline Carroll receives the Army's Medal of Freedom from Maj. Gen. T. B. Philadelphia Braces For Transit Strike

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 10 — Philadelphia's three million trolley, bus and subway travelers braced themselves today for a transit strike set for midnight.

The walkout—which would result in Philadelphia's third major transportation tieup in five years—was approved by a majority of the 11,000 members of Local 234, CIO-Transport Workers Union employed by the Philadelphia Transportation Co.

Motormen and conductors at present are paid $1.12 an hour on two-man cars and $1.20 per hour on one-man operations. Maintenance workers receive from 94 cents to $1.48 an hour. The union demands a 40 cents an hour raise.

VA TO FIRE 8,500

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10—The Veterans Administration will fire 8,500 of its 200,000 employes before July 1, administrator Carl R. Gray Jr. said today. He told his assistants this must be done to stay within the $6,100,000,000 budget President Truman has proposed for the 1949 fiscal year. Medical services will not be reduced, Gray said.

40 ESSAYS WRITTEN IN LEGION CONTEST

Pupils in Public and Parochial Schools in Competition

Forty essays, written by pupils in the ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades of the public and parochial junior and senior high schools in the city on the subject, "How Can the United Nations Become More Effective" have been submitted in the annual American Legion Essay contest conducted locally by Bird-McGinnis Post No. 162.

From these essays submitted the post essay committee have selected the two best essays (one boy and one girl) from each grade to receive the post awards. These eight winning essays are to be turned over to the district commander, Craig M. Rogers, later than midnight, Feb 16 for entry in the county contest.

The county committee will then choose from the entries the two best essays from each grade for the county awards and will deliver the winning essays to the district commander prior to midnight, Feb. 27. From the district the winning essays chosen will be sent to the department and from there the winning ones to the state.

The contest opened just prior to Christmas vacations in the schools and closed Feb. 1.

Members of the post essay contest committee are C. W. Coleman, chairman, R. E. Copeland, R. H. Waddell and John Cerv-

Extended Liquor Hours, Pinball Tax Questions Before Council

Two proposed ordinances likely to meet opposition were given first readings by City council Monday night. The first would permit liquor establishments to remain open until 2:30 a. m. Sunday. The second calls for city licensing of coin operated pinball machines and juke boxes.

The liquor measure was referred to the ways and means committee for study before council takes further action. The pinball machine and juke box ordinance may be considered for further action at the next meeting.

Legislation for revamping the present ordinance regulating closing hours for city liquor establishments was placed before council by Harold Smith, First ward councilman.

Present at the meeting were executive board members of the Marion Tavernkeepers Association. They were represented by Attorney Frank Wiedemann.

The ordinance if adopted would permit night club liquor license holders to remain open for the maximum hours their license allows under state law.

The present city ordinance requires all liquor establishments to close from midnight Saturday until midnight Sunday, even though certain classes of liquor licenses under state law permit sale after midnight.

Agree To Closing

The Tavernkeepers, several of whom have the 2:30 a. m. license, propose that if the city will relax the Saturday night closing regulation, they will agree to remain closed from 2:30 a. m. Sunday until 5:30 a. m. Monday.

At the present time, no city regulation covers sale of liquor after midnight Sunday. Association members are opening up at midnight Sunday, remaining open until whatever time limit their state license prescribes. This practice will be dropped if after midnight sale is approved by the city, association members offered.

Attorney Wiedemann, reviewing the stand taken by the tavernkeepers pointed out that present city regulations take trade out of the city after midnight Saturday, to road houses and other communities where maximum hours under state law are in effect. Mr Wiedemann declared it not fair to license holders who pay $1,000 for the night club permit, to be closed at midnight when state law permits them to remain open until 2:30 a. m.

The tavernkeepers group says it represents the majority of cafe operators in the city. There is one exception however. Boughers restaurant does not belong to the association. Herman M Miller, councilman, Fifth ward, is associated in the operation of that establishment.

Present Plan Satisfactory

Mr Miller remarked last night that the present city closing hours, 12 midnight Saturday until 12 midnight Sunday, have been satisfactory to him. Boughers opens at midnight Sunday and would not be bound by any agreement made with the city by the Tavernkeepers Association.

Mr. Miller said last night that permitting establishments to remain open until 2:30 would be ammunition for the "drys" and aid the backers of the "local option" movement.

The pinball machine and juke box ordinance has been under consideration by city officials and council finance committee on previous occasions.

The ordinance if adopted would require licensing of all coin operated mechanical amusement devices at $50 per year. Establishments having more than one would pay a $5 license fee for each additional machine. Separate licenses would be required for each extension or "speaker" hooked to a juke-box.

The ordinance is patterned after one now in effect in Toledo, City Solicitor John Watters said.

Other Provisions

Other requirements under the ordinance provide that the amusement devices may not be operated within 400 feet of any school and may not be used for gambling purposes. Each must carry a seal of approval by the safety-service director who is authorized to make frequent inspections to see that all provisions of the ordinance are carried out by operators.

Any machine found in use for gambling purposes may be taken out of operation by revokation of license or fine or both, at the discretion of the mayor. A $50 fine is authorized for violation of the ordinance with each violation, where several are found at one time, to be considered a separate offense.

Emergency legislation enacted last night included authorization to the safety-service director to sell or trade a 1946 Mercury sedan police cruiser and to purchase a new cruiser. Payment is authorized from police department funds previously appropriated for that purpose.

The park board also received authorization to sell a power mower not in operating condition and no longer needed by that board. Its value was estimated at less than $500.

Council also adopted a resolution requesting permission of the Marion county commissioners for the city and the Marion Water Co to maintain a fire hydrant on the highway limits of the Madison avenue extension north.

Madison avenue which runs north and south in the vicinity of Garfield park, lies on the corporation line. Homes on the west side of the street are in the city while the street itself and the right of way are in the county. By oversight the hydrant was located too far east, placing its maintenance in the hands of the county. Rather than relocate the hydrant, permission for maintenance is sought from the commissioners.

CLUB HEARS FORMER QUESTIONER OF NAZIS

John E. Dolibois on Foremen's Program.

John E. Dolibois, who came to the United States from his native Luxembourg in 1931 as an immigrant, became an American citizen and was a captain in U. S. military intelligence during World War II, described his work and experiences as an interrogator of former high-ranking Nazi officers, who were being held in prison awaiting the war crimes trials at Nuernberg, when he came to Marion as guest speaker on the Marion Power Shovel Co. Foremen's club, Saturday night at Hotel Harding.

Mr Dolibois is now executive secretary of the Miami university alumni association at Oxford, O. He is a graduate of Miami.

Before 150 Foremen's club members and guests, the former American Army officer, who now holds a reserve commission as captain, described his wartime work in Europe, where he interrogated prominent Nazi prisoners in assembling evidence for use in the Nuernberg trials of Hitler's aides for war crimes. His native fluent use of German and French languages simplified his work as interrogator and interpreter.

Mr Dolibois gave interesting details of questioning Herman Goering, Rudolph Hess, Julius Streicher, Von Ribbentrop, Kaltenbrunner, Schwartz, Robert Ley, Admiral Doenitz, Gen. Johannes Blaskowitz, former German commander in Holland, who committed suicide in prison, Feb. 8, and other Nazi "big-wigs."

Asked "Is Hitler dead?", Mr. Dolibois replied "Yes," but said that all of the facts developed by the various allied governments can not be made public.

The meeting was in charge of Joseph Johnson, club president, and the speaker was introduced. A short talk, expressing appreciation for Mr. Dolibois' revelation by Jack Weis, program chairman, of details of his war experiences, was given by Harvey T. Gracely, president and general manager of the Marion Power Shovel Co.

Board Offers To Let Legion Post Run Vets' Housing

By The Associated Press

FINDLAY, O. Feb 10—Hancock county commissioners gave up trying to be landlords today.

They offered to let the Ralph D Cole Post of the American Legion run the Riverside Veterans' housing project after a battle over rents, an eviction, an injunction, and the rising price of fuel oil.

The Legion post, which had put up the bond for the injunction against the rent increase, thought the offer over. A decision was expected next week.

Meanwhile John Reed, chairman of the commissioners, announced cancellation of the increase from $41 to $49. He said it had been ordered because oil for heating the little three and four-room homes was getting so expensive. Fuel oil here is quoted at 15 cents a gallon.

Reed said the commissioners evicted Raymond Sibold, a disabled veteran, and his wife and two children. Junior, 3, and James Lynn, 17 months, for non-payment of December, January, and February rent.

Sibold, who was treated at the Dayton Veterans' hospital from Dec. 29 until Jan. 8 for leg wounds, said he offered to pay $82 for the December and January rent but refused to pay the increase for February. The commissioners refused to accept the $82, he said.

Reed said the commissioners took the eviction action when the county soldiers' relief commission refused to pay Sibold's rent on grounds that the veteran was not indigent. Reed said Sibold received $41 a month in disability pension and $20 in unemployment compensation.

Porter T Lowden, another resident of the project, sued for the injunction on behalf of himself and the score of other tenants.

Points made during the round table discussion included the customer is a guest in the store, a clerk who makes a friend for himself by giving good service makes a friend for the store, each employer should have a suggestion box for his employes and should consider suggestions submitted, treat the last customer of the day as well as you treated the first for a customer seldom remarks to his friends about good service but he always mentions poor service.

Movie Shown

Preceeding Miss Thomas' address the merchandisers were shown the motion picture "Along Main Street," made for the Coca Cola Co, which displayed the five requirements of a good salesman. These were: a neat personal appearance, a friendly facial expression, a friendly voice an interest in the customer, and enthusiasm for his product and his job.

The enrollment for the institute sessions has risen to 416, a gain of 36 over last weeks enrollment, the retail board of managers of the Chamber of Commerce reported.

Next Speaker

The speaker for the third of the six scheduled sessions will be Earl Roth, who will speak on "Knowing Merchandise and How To Use It."

Mr. Roth is associate professor of business education at Bowling Green State university and president of the Ohio Vocational Education Association.

On the same program will be shown a motion picture "Where Rainbows Begin," a film made for the National Cash Register Co. The third session will begin at 7 p. m. Monday, Feb 26, at the Central Junior High auditorium.

The institute, sponsored by the Retail Board of Managers of the Chamber of Commerce, is under the direction of Miss Murl Frye, coordinator of distributive education at Harding High school.

But on the nation's economy in general, the Ohio senator said in a speech prepared for a Chicago audience:

"We can't give away sums (for European recovery) so large that they force controls and government regulation and high prices and shortages which threaten the very condition here at home we are trying to protect."

Other Developments

Meanwhile, there were these other developments dealing with the nation's economy:

▶Meeting President Truman's request, the senate-house economic committee voted 8 to 0 to revive grain rationing to liquor producers through October.

The next step is up to the Senate and house banking committees. They must decide whether to abide by the joint committee's recommendation and send a bill to both chambers.

▶Senator Tobey (R-NH), chairman of the senate banking committee, told a reporter he favors "very strongly" an extension of controls over use of tin and certain other scarce commodities. These and import restrictions covering such products and fats and oils are due to expire Feb. 29. Mr. Truman asked yesterday they be continued to prevent "confusion at home and abroad."

Tobey said his committee will start hearings Feb 27. Across the capitol, the matter will be handled by the house judiciary committee. Chairman McCormier (R-Mich) promised "proper consideration" but set no date for hearings.

Charge in Mansfield Double Killing Filed

MANSFIELD, O. Feb. 10—First degree murder charges were filed against 31-year-old Clarence Greer today in the slaying of two of his rooming house tenants.

City Detective C Bruce Friday filed the charge for the fatal shootings of Mrs. Ella Owens, 31, and her brother, Zell Taylor, 35. Greer was held to the grand jury without bond.

The bodies were found after Greer walked into police headquarters yesterday and announced he had just killed two people, Friday said.

SHEET STEEL SHORTAGE CHIEF INDUSTRY PROBLEM

The regular luncheon meeting of the Marion Council of Manufacturers of the Chamber of Commerce was held yesterday at Hotel Harding with 26 members in attendance.

"Operational Problems" was the theme of the group discussion, which presented an analysis of the local manufacturing situation by the members.

The shortage of sheet steel poses the greatest problem faced by local manufacturers, it was agreed. Sales by all local manufacturers were "steady" with better marketing prospects in view for the future.

Woman Held as Witness In Year-Old Slaying

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 10—Mrs Bernice L. Watson, 23, of Newcomerstown was held in county jail today as a material witness in the slaying of Walter L. Middlemus, 25-year-old itinerant farmer.

The body of Middlemus was found in Alum Creek Dec. 26, 1946. His skull was fractured in three places.

Assistant Prosecutor T. Vincent Martin said Mrs. Watson was ordered held under $2,500 bond after she refused to testify before a grand jury. Martin also asserted Mrs. Watson is believed to have seen Middlemus shortly before his death.

Farmers Keep Livestock Off Chicago Market

By The United Press

CHICAGO, Feb. 10—Farmers kept their cattle and hogs off the market today in a move to halt nosediving livestock prices.

Only 5,500 salable hogs were shipped into Chicago compared with 14,000 yesterday.

Cattle receipts totaled 5,000 head, compared with 18,000 yesterday.

Farmers apparently had decided that yesterday's drastic market break, in which hog prices tumbled as much as $4 per hundred pounds, was a temporary trend. "The farmers are getting smart," a market analyst for the U.S. department of agriculture said.

Many of them had lost money in yesterday's rush to sell. Their animals had been fattened on sky-high corn, and when livestock prices plunged, their profit margin vanished.

In Plain Words

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

"WHITE Supremacy" is the battle cry of southerners in congress.

They're sore about President Truman's ideas on civil rights. He asked congress last week to do these things, among others:

Pass laws killing the poll tax in even southern states and do other things to make Negroes more equal with whites.

By "white supremacy" the southerners mean they want the white man, who is boss in the south, to continue to be boss.

The south is solidly Democratic. This is the big election year for president. If the south turned away from the Democrats, it might cost them the election.

James Marlow

For an example of what's involved, take the poll tax.

Foes of the tax call it a device to help keep Negroes from voting in the south: the tax has to be paid before voting and Negroes are poor.

Comparatively few Negroes vote in the south. In recent years more have voted than any time since right after the Civil war.

If the Negroes began voting in large numbers in the south, they'd elect some of their own race to office and fight for laws to help themselves.

This country's population now is about 145,000,000, of which 13,000,000 are Negroes. Of those 13,000,000 Negroes, about 9,000,000 are in these 11 southern states:

Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia.

IN THOSE SAME STATES the white population is about 23,000,000. So the Negroes are outnumbered more than two to one.

From that you might think the white, by sticking together, always could outvote the Negroes.

It might not work that way. If the whites split up their vote between several candidates, the Negroes, by sticking together, would be powerful.

The average Negro population in those 11 states—9,000,000 Negroes to 23,000,000 Whites—is 28 per cent. But it's not as low as 28 per cent in all the states, nor as high.

THE RANGE IS FROM 14 per cent Negro population in Texas to 42 per cent Negro in South Carolina and 49 per cent Negro in Mississippi.

In South Carolina and Mississippi, if all the eligible Negroes voted and the whites were a little inactive or split their vote, the Negroes could win.

It's no accident that the white men of South Carolina and Mississippi are among the most vocal about keeping white supremacy.

The north, led by the Republican party of Abraham Lincoln, fought and whipped the south in the Civil war. The south has been pretty solidly Democratic ever since.

It's really a one-party section of the country. The Republicans there have no strength worth speaking of. It might not be a one-party place if the Negroes voted in large numbers.

Now take a look at voting in the south, with its one-party system, and voting in other states where Democrats and Republicans fight each other.

IN THE 1944 PRESIDENTIAL election this was the vote cast in two southern states and in two non-southern states:

Mississippi—180,080 votes, or 7 per cent of the total population which was 2,180,905. Of that total 1,074,578 were Negroes.

Nevada—54,234 votes, or 49 per cent of the total population of 110,247. Negroes: only 664.

South Carolina—103,375 votes, or 5 per cent of the population of 1,898,472, of which 814,164 were Negroes.

Ohio—3,153,056 votes, or 52 per cent of the population of 6,047,265, of which only 339,461 were Negroes.

The problem of civil rights is not new to the south. After the Civil war it had 4,000,000 newly-freed, landless Negroes. White southerners passed "black codes" to keep the Negroes apart.

Then the Republican congress passed a number of civil rights laws to give the Negro equality and, by making sure Negroes voted, got them into southern legislatures.

Congress and the supreme court later whittled away those civil rights laws. Since then the south has kept the Negro segregated and out of political office.

Fire Destroys Rural Home Near Bucyrus

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS—Driven from their farm home with the temperature hovering around zero, the Clyde Frankenfield family was given shelter at the home of a relative early Monday when their residence northwest of here was completely destroyed by fire. Household belongings were saved through the efforts of neighbors and firemen who responded from Sycamore.

The fire was believed to have started from defective wiring at the point where the wires entered the two story frame structure.

Efforts of firemen prevented the flames from spreading to a summer house ten feet from the house.

Received this week were the following contributions: Marion Retail Liquor Dealers association $144.60; Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers $10; International Molders & Foundry Workers, Local No. 386, $5, and United Steel Workers of America, Local No. 2721, $25.

Governor's Employes Cleared of Charges

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 10—Two ex-convicts employed at the governor's mansion were cleared today of robbery charges.

A Franklin county grand jury yesterday refused to indict Robert Roberts, 50, chauffeur, and Robert Smith, 35, laundryman, in connection with a $48 street robbery.

Patrick Bolger 54, a paroled convict, and Elizabeth Bolar, 25, also accused in the street robbery, likewise were freed.

Roberts and Smith both are parolees from life sentences for murder. After their arrest, several state officials criticized the policy of assigning ex-convicts to the mansion. However, Gov. Thomas J. Herbert said he "couldn't believe Roberts and Smith were involved."

CRACK ELYRIA SAFES

By The Associated Press

ELYRIA, O., Feb. 10 — Safecrackers got approximately $1,100 from two safes in the Veterans of Foreign Wars headquarters here last weekend, Commander Harold Haywood reported to police yesterday.

AGAIN SEEK UNIFIED CONSERVATION LAW

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 10 — Ohio's lawmakers again are to be asked to enact a law to unify all phases of conservation and natural resources.

A single department, headed by a director with cabinet status, will be proposed.

State Sen. Roscoe R. Walcutt (R-Franklin) chairman of the post-war program commission today named a special committee to prepare such legislation for the 1949 general assembly, which convenes next January.

He named State Sen. C. Stanley Mechem, (R-Athens) to head the committee. Mechem now is chairman of the senate conservation committee.

The present and previous legislatures could not agree upon a similar measure.

Walcutt said the various conservation activities of the state now are scattered among seven agencies which, in turn, are scattered among several departments of state government.

Perry L. Green, Columbus, president of the Ohio Farm Bureau federation, was named vice-chairman of the committee. Rep. Samuel B. Nicely (R-Clinton) was named secretary.

Included among other members of the committee is Joseph K. Vodrey, vice president and general manager of Brush-Moore Newspapers, Canton.

RULE OUT RATHSKELLER

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 10—Ohio State university trustees yesterday ruled out the sale of alcoholic beverages in the proposed Student Union building. A student-faculty-alumni committee recently reported "75 per cent of students polled" were in favor of a rathskeller.

IT SURE GETS COLD AROUND HERE

THAT POOR PIPE is going to burst any minute now. And no puns intended—you're the one who'll have to pay the piper.

HERE are a few suggestions to help save the life of your pipes, and save you the trouble of costly repairs, too.

1. Wrap exposed pipes in paper, rags, or burlap.
2. Turn off, drain outside fixtures.
3. Plug up drafty cracks and repair broken window panes in your basement.

THEN your water pipes will look like this:

The Columbia scientists found myanesin has some advantages over the series of curare drugs, which sometimes cause unfavorable reactions.

The curare drug comes from a South American tree. Natives have used the drug for making arrow poisons to paralyze their enemies.

In the Institute study, it was found that myanesin could be administered with safety in two per cent solution. While it apparently has had its first real clinical test in the United States, the Columbia scientists believe further studies should be made.

Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK—I WANT to tell you about a book that may affect your life and the lives of your children.

It is a book without a plot. It has no hero or heroine and no love interest—except maybe love of country. It has no happy ending because it ends on the note that we are just beginning.

The book is "Airborne Warfare" and it is published by the Infantry Journal Press, whose names to me are reason enough for another book counter's shy.

Maj. Gen. Sam Jim Gavin wrote the book. It is a kind of blueprint of World War Three—if and when—which may rank in type with the [illegible] armored warfare written by an obscure French captain, Charles De Gaulle, before the outbreak of World War Two.

Hal Boyle

"Sam Jim" is a kind of military Horatio Alger. A steel-willed man with a pleasant grin, he enlisted in the army at 17 and at 37 became commander of the famed 82nd airborne division.

He has a great battle record and is a cool and sensible man. He was respected and liked by his troops—the hard-bitten paratroop kids who had as their merry motto: "Anybody who hesitates to attack a pillbox or kiss a pretty girl is a coward."

Gavin thinks the danger of the military mind lies in spending its time now learning how to fight the last war better. On the other hand he doesn't think war in the foreseeable future will be merely a matter of pushbuttons. He believes the man who pulls the trigger will still be needed—but he wants to put wings on all the fighting soldiers.

THE FUTURE OF our armed forces is in the air, he says. All fighting men and everything they need to fight with in the future and live on as they fight must be capable of movement by air."

Gavin cites evidence to bolster his belief that airborne landings played a decisive role in saving the beachhead in Sicily, Italy and in Nazi Normandy. Yet he says that as late as 1942 the faculty of a leading American military service school was teaching that it was impossible to land a division of airborne troops behind enemy lines because too many "open" airfields were required.

Two years later three full divisions of airborne troops were the first allied soldiers to land in France.

"If our development of equipment for amphibious warfare were as retarded as our development for airborne warfare has been," he observes, only "we would have made the Normandy assault in rowboats."

WHAT WILL FUTURE warfare be like?

Well, Gavin thinks beachheads will be replaced by airheads on enemy territory — a full army landed by air and functioning in four to six days.

Guided missiles — with atom bombs as their probable warheads —will have a global range but will be accurate only at targets a few hundred miles away.

"Never again may troops concentrate as they have in the past," he says. Never again may troops and ships suggest a beach as they did after landing in the invasion of Normandy. Dispersion must govern all operations of the future."

Troops carrying concentrated rations and lightweight but terrific, powerful new weapons will run out after landing and concentrate only to meet the ground enemy—when close contact will prevent either side from using atom bombs.

THE TARGETS OF airborne landings will probably be the launching sites of enemy guided missiles or key industrial and political centers.

Gavin believes that an enemy attack would begin with a bombardment of guided missiles followed in six minutes to six hours by airborne landings. He says the Florida peninsula could be cut off by little more than one division, thus repelling Miami and Palm Beach from the American scene.

"The only possible certain antidote is an airborne force prepared to counterattack and isolate or destroy enemy forces . . ."

His sober conclusion:

"The nation that in the future has the best trained and equipped airborne forces has the best chance of survival. And the nation or nations that control the air will control the peace."

don't DO that!

Three Foxes Killed In Community Hunt

Carl Lenner, Casey Young, and Robert Campbell were the lucky nimrods who brought in three foxes killed in the Campbell school community fox hunt Saturday.

There were five drives made by the 100 hunters participating, with two morning drives netting one fox each and three in the afternoon netting only one fox.

A lunch was served the hunters at noon by women of the community. Proceeds of the hunt will be used to restock game in the community, Leonard Green, master of the hunt, stated.

IF STOMACH BALKS DUE TO GAS AND BLOAT

Help Get Food Digested to Relieve Yourself of This Nervous Distress

Do you feel all puffed-up and miserable after every meal, taste sour, bitter food? If so, here is how you may get blessed relief in helping your stomach do the job—it should be doing—in the digestion of its food.

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles, else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with overdoses of soda and other alkalizers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

PRINCIPLE OF DEMOCRACY

Editor of The Star: I have recently heard that there is in Marion a Wallace-for-President club, and that it will soon begin an attempt to get his name on the ballot in Ohio. I think they will need about 15,000 names in Ohio signed to a petition to get this accomplished.

While I am not a member of this organization (as a minister I feel I can not take an active part in any partisan campaign), yet I earnestly feel that every citizen, regardless of party, should sign this petition. Here is involved a principle of democracy that's as old as our nation: Give the people a choice and then give them a ballot, trusting them to make the right choice.

I can not possibly see why any true American would wish to deny a man the opportunity to run for office in a free election. In Russia they may demand that people go to the polls with no real choice, but we don't do things that way in this country.

I'm sure every one of us agree with this principle. "I may not agree with what you say, but I'll fight to the death for your right to say it."

BASKETBALL in Marion is going to stay as it is—stinkin'—until we get our boys some practice facilities, a large court, practice courts in all the grade school yards and some specialization in athletics . . . So said Kenny Somerlot, Harding cage mentor who is experiencing his first year as coach of a losing ball club . . . "I've asked the school board to put up an outdoor court at Harding stadium, but they can't cut it. I've gone to the Harding Booster club and they're working on it, but they'll need some help. What we need is a big court where our boys can practice the kind of game they'll need to play to win the away games. We'll never have a winning team if we don't give our boys a chance."

Probable cost of an outdoor court such as Kenny wants is about $800 for a 90 by 56 ft. asphalt court and about $1,200 for a cement court.

AFTER HE GETS IT, he'll have his boys start workouts when school starts in September. They'll be practicing all through the football season and should have their fundamentals reasonably well in hand by the time the cage season begins. "Why we have to teach our seniors what they should have learned in the grades," said Kenny. "There's not enough facilities in the grade schools and that's where winning teams start. At one of the grade schools, they only let a few boys at a time go out on the basketball court they do have for fear a fight will start." . . . After he gets the outdoor court at the stadium, Somerlot wants at least crushed stone courts on all the grade schools so the kids can practice all through the summer.

"IN TOWNS WHERE year after year there are winning basketball teams, you'll find that the kids' dads make them drill an hour or so a day shooting baskets through the garage hoop," said Kenny. "It takes practice and lots of it."

The system of playing junior high basketball teams — which was begun this year is a step in the right direction, said Kenny. "The kids will come to high school with some of the fundamentals mastered and they use the same plays we use in high school."

AND THEN THERE'S the specialization in athletics. "Harding is a big enough school that a boy can specialize in one sport. But to do that, we've got to get them out. We've got a lot of coming kids here, but none of them have arrived in basketball. They don't get a chance to work at one sport enough."

It's up to the town as well as coaches to turn out winning teams.

Greenberg May Join Indians as Player-Coach

Asks for Share in Tribe Operation; Boudreau Sees Pennant Possibility

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Feb. 10—Hank Greenberg probably will sign a player-coach contract with the Cleveland Indians if the agreement includes a share in operation of the club.

The former American league home run king indicated as much last night, when he came here as Tribe President Bill Veeck's guest at a baseball writers' dinner honoring manager Lou Boudreau.

"I haven't signed yet," Hank told an interviewer, "and before I take such a step I want to make sure that my association won't be just a one-year proposition as player-coach. I'm looking for something more permanent. I'd like to be associated in the operation of a major league club."

Money Not Mentioned

Salary apparently hasn't been a factor in the Veeck-Greenberg talks because Hank said "the matter of money hasn't ever been mentioned."

Another conference is scheduled today before Greenberg returns to New York.

Greenberg arrived by plane yesterday afternoon and immediately went into a huddle with Veeck. The two continued their discussions at the writers' dinner and prompted toastmaster Frank Gibbons to remark:

"This is the first contract conference before 650 people in the history of baseball."

Veeck, who observed his 34th birthday yesterday, declared "we'd be glad to have Hank in any capacity because he'd be an asset to any ball club."

When called upon to speak at the dinner, Veeck said:

"We stand a pretty good chance of signing Greenberg. I'm working for one man now (pointing to Bob Feller) and I may be working for two in a few days." He then pointed to Greenberg.

Sees Cleveland Pennant

Boudreau, honored by the writers as Cleveland's man of the year in baseball for 1947, asserted the 1948 Indians have "the potentialities of a championship team."

"First, we have the greatest pitcher in baseball. Second, our defensive record stands alone. Third, there are several youngsters, as well as oldsters who, if they come through, can put us on top. Forty-eight could be a pennant year for Cleveland."

The Tribe pilot said he was counting heavily upon first baseman Eddie Robinson to hit 40 or 50 points higher this year. He added that Feller would be helped to a better year by Bob Lemon. since regular winning by Lemon would give Feller an extra day's rest.

"That will make a difference of from five to 10 victories," Boudreau said.

ATHLETIC COMMITTEE PLANS FAN PROGRAM

The Marion county Athletic committee, alarmed at the apparent trend of Ohio's sports fans, and county cage fans in particular, of letting their enthusiasm for a winning team spill over onto the playing court in the form of brawls or near-brawls, arguments with referees, etc., met recently and drew up a program of spectator education which was submitted to H. W. Emswiler, commissioner of the Ohio High School Athletic Association, who liked it so well, he decided to have it printed in the Athlete, official organ of the association.

With the county basketball tournament at hand and expecting enthusiasm to reach an even higher pitch than during the play in the recently completed county league schedule, the Athletic committee felt moved to present their program to Marion's sporting public and asked that it be placed in The Star.

With the aim of "maintaining the county athletic relationships on the high plane which has characterized all other inter-school activity in the county . . . the Athletic committee recommends for consideration the following:

▶"An educational approach among the student body of each of our schools. Assembly talks, themes, etc., to be devoted to the problem of building better spectator sportsmanship.

▶"Developing the theme of good-sportsmanship in our school paper and in our local newspaper.

▶"Calmness and poise on the part of coaches and school people in their contact with game officials. A game official should never be subjected to criticism by a coach in front of the teams or spectators.

▶"The active support of local principals of schools competing toward referees in their effort to do a good job of officiating and keeping the games clean.

▶"That the building of good spectator attitudes toward school athletics is largely the responsibility of the local superintendent and coach."

Members of the Athletic committee who formulated the program—all coaches or former coaches and several of them now school superintendents—are C. D. Pilkington, chairman, Frank Furniss, V. L. Anderson, Harry Alexander, Orin D. McGlone, and Dale S. Porter.

Howell Sees Another Wonder Team In Lawrence County's Kitts Hill Cagers

By FRITZ HOWELL
Ohio Associated Press Sports Editor

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 10—Remember the Waterloo Wonders who roared out of the Lawrence county hills back in 1933 and 1934 to capture Ohio's class B high school basketball championships?

Well, there's just a chance that another of those wonder teams from the "knob" country is in the making. And it may come storming through the 950 teams which start county tournament play this week.

Kitts Hill (pop. 45) may be the team of destiny, rated off its performance Friday against Ironton St. Joe. Halted by snow for two weeks the Wildcats trampled St. Joseph 108 to 34; Carl Large, a five-foot nine-inch forward, poured 41 points through the hoop. That boosted his 25-game total to 576.

But the payoff was that Kitts Hill led only 27-12 at the half, clicked for 27 in the third quarter—and then closed with 54 points in the final eight minutes, an average of almost seven per minute. If that isn't the record scoring for a quarter, it's because someone forgot to put the record in the book.

Class A Doings

While the class B boys were cutting capers, plenty was going on over in the class A sector of about 250 teams. Middletown winner of the state crown three of the last four years, and just nosed out for the fourth, ran its victory string to 14, beating Portsmouth's Trojans 76-56. The 132-point total was a Greater Ohio league scoring record. Bob Bush set a new modern record for the Middies, dumping 28 points.

Findlay's Trojans, tipped to meet the Middies for the title zoomed to their 16th straight win, and their 34th in 35 games over two seasons 62-34 over Fremont Ross. Fremont's 34 is the best against the Trojans this year. Findlay is averaging 54.5 and the foe 25.3 for the campaign.

East Liverpool, runnerup to Middletown last year, finally is showing championship form. After losing six of the first 10, the Potters have won seven straight. In the streak they halted victory strings of both Salem and Toronto. Their latest was 47-27 over Steubenville.

Mansfield Madison with 14 and Akron Garfield with 11, round out the unbeaten contingent in class A. Glenford paces the class B pack with 25 straight, and others with clean records include Bremen 20, Warsaw 17, Middle Point and Enon 116, Delphos St John 14, and Frankfort 13.

Once-beaten teams include Hamilton Catholic, Salem, Kingston, Hudson, Canton Township Rockford, Ashland, Salem Township and North Baltimore.

This and That

This and that: All five of Findlay's starters have over 100 points for 16 games . . . Mayor Ernest Wingett of Racine promises all future games will be carefully policed since that fight by players and spectators marred last week's game with Belpre . . . Belpre was leading 23-12 in the second quarter when the free-for-all washed the game away.

Lancaster's Golden Eagles, winners of 11 of 13, get a chance tonight to tie for the Central Ohio loop title against league-leading Newark on the Wildcat floor . . . Earl Miller, in a dual coaching role, has mentored Frankfort high to 13 straight wins this year, and the Chillicothe Branch of Ohio U. to seven wins and one loss . . . Talk of brotherly love. Maynard Gore of Edison has scored 344 points in 20 games for the team which his brother Fred coaches . . .

Brotherly love also gets a "supreme test" tonight when Enon risks its perfect record against an invading Butler-Vandalia quintet. Bob Caton coaches Enon and his brother Dick handles Butler-Vandalia.

IRISH TO GUN FOR 15TH WIN TONIGHT

St. Mary's Irish, with nine wins in a row, and 14 won out of 17 played, will be out to extend their win streak to ten when they hit the road to do battle with the tough Wildcats of Sunbury tonight. The Sunbury squad second to the Ashley Aces in Delaware county league competition are going to be mighty tough, if past records are any indication of strength. Ashley slipped by the St. Mary crew 36-27 in the fifth game of the season, but in turn were dumped by Sunbury.

The Wildcats have two good boys, Herb Ward at center and Bob Metzger at guard, who, Gene Petter says, "are keeping me awake nights."

Ward is a good all-around floorman, dangerous on anybody's ball team, Metzger is 6-feet of scoring power with his record already established. He was high scorer last year in the Mid-State league, beating out St. Mary's Dick Schuler by a point or two.

As for the Irish, they have been averaging slightly less than 50 points per game, which is not to be taken lightly in high school circles, while Dick Schuler has been setting the individual pace with an average of 18 per game. John Baldauf, second high Irish scorer and Dick Drake, who has had some mighty good nights, won't give Sunbury anything to be happy about, and the two Irish defensive aces, Bob "Sticky" Stuber and Dan Smith are apt to hold down Metzger and Ward.

The Irish Reserves will be out to skin the young Sunbury Wildcats in the preliminary tilt as they try for their sixteenth win.

SMITH'S, M'MILLEN, SCHLAIRET TRIUMPH

In three games played at the Y.M.C.A. last night, Smith's, McMillen, and Schlairet came off winners, while the Merchants, Carroll's, and Hensel were the losers.

The Smith's team, outscoring the Merchants in every period except the last, accumulated 51 points as Musolf and Roseberry each contributed 18, while the Merchants were led by Zachman with eight points as their team garnered 40 counters.

McMillen Feed fed it to Carroll's as they reaped 74 tallies, Jones racking 17 points, Harbolt, 16, Shellhorn, 13, and Winterstellar, 12, while Seiter hit for 12 counters in pacing the Jewelry boys to 40.

Schlairet, flooring a well-oiled basketball machine, ran all over Hensel Brothers, as Harold Dillion grabbed 26 markers to pace them to a 79-23 win. Dreyer and Don Hensel each hit for six points for Hensel as the boys failed to keep the pace set by the high-powered Schlairet quintet.

State's Honeymoon Is Over; They're Back in Cellar After Wildcat Loss

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 10—Ohio State university's basketball honeymoon is over.

The Buckeyes are back in the Big Nine cellar again—just eight days after they hit their peak with a 79-36 defeat of Michigan, league-pacesetting quintet. Last Saturday they were mauhandled at Minnesota, 68-38.

Northwestern's Wildcats took care of Coach Tippy Dye's all-sophomore combination last night at Evanston, 47-45. The loss dropped the Bucks into a last-place tie with the Wildcats. Each has won two and lost six in conference play. Ohio State's overall record now is six wins in 15 starts.

Elsewhere around the state last night, Wilberforce State improved its lead in the overall state standings, dumping Cedarville, 68-49; Ohio Wesleyan disposed of Wright Field, 82-59, and Illinois Wesleyan beat Kenyon, 89-60.

Ohio State had a 45-42 lead over Northwestern with 96 seconds to go. Bill Sticklen, game scorer with 22 points, knotted it up and center George Maddock wheeled in the deciding basket. Dick Schnittker, the Buckeye scoring ace, managed only four points, his poorest showing of the season. Northwestern was ahead at halftime, 25-15.

Cedarville took an early lead and still led Wilberforce at halftime, 21-24. Wilberforce's scoring trio—Fred Sheffey, Norm Ward and Jim Eaddy—found the range early in the second half, and State won its 13th game in 15 starts.

Sheffey, Ward and Eaddy got 5 points between them.

Wesleyan's Ohio Conference leaders took a breather in the Wright Field game, pulling away easily after a fairly close half.

At Bloomington, Ill., Eppa Rixe the third. Kenyon's sensational scoring star, tossed in 32 points, 15 in the last 10 minutes of the game.

McKechnie and Lopez Strike It Rich—in Oil

By International News Service

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 10 — Cleveland Indian Coach Bill McKechnie and Al Lopez, former Tribe backstop who now manages the Indianapolis club, have struck it rich—in oil.

McKechnie and Lopez invested in some oil land near Omaha, Tex., a number of years ago and the property is now reported to be spouting with royalty checks.

Galloping Gil Has Met His Master—Mumps

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, Feb. 10 — Galloping Gil Dodds, who hasn't been caught by rival runners since August, 1943, finally met his nemesis—the mumps.

"I guess this finishes me for the indoor season," groaned the nation's top miler, from his bed in Haynes Memorial hospital.

He is definitely out of the Baxter mile this Saturday at the New York A. C. games in Madison Square Garden.

Dodds will be in the hospital at least a week, possibly longer, if there are no complications.

... May 10, 1884, in Marion, ... son of Jacob and Mar... Schoenlaub, the fa... native of Richland town... ship and the mother of Marion township. He was married in Marion on June 8, 1911 to Florence Shurz. She died July 31, 1931. A resident of Marion 40 years, Mr. Schoenlaub came here from Wheeling, W. Va., where he had lived for a time. He was a graduate of the Ohio State university law school and practiced law here for a short time about 40 years ago. In the sport of bowling he was widely known, and was a top scorer in the game for many years. He was a member of Emanuel Lutheran church and of the Eagles and Knights of Pythias lodges. He had worked for Roy Abel, who is proprietor of a recreational establishment on North Prospect street.

Closest surviving relatives are brothers, Thomas of Columbus and Clifford of Michigan.

William Landon

PROSPECT—William Landon, 88, farmer of west of Centerville, died in his home at 5:15 a. m. today. He had been in failing health six months. Born April 15, 1659, at Reedsville, he was a son of William and Margaret Holmes Landon. He was a member of the Methodist church at Radnor. Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Millie Landon, whom he married March 2, 1881, and children, Miss Nettie Landon and Arthur, Everett, Emric, Guy and Harry Landon, all at home, brothers, Lewis of Radnor and Edward of Marion. Funeral services will be conducted Thursday at 2 p. m. in the Gehm funeral home here by Rev. Ralph Knoop of the Prospect Methodist church. Burial will be in Prospect cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after Wednesday noon.

Mrs. Cora Brewster

GALION — Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at Fitchville for Mrs. Cora Brewster, 87, mother of Arthur Brewster of the Beck road, west of Galion. Mrs. Brewtser died Thursday night at the Norwalk Memorial hospital where she was taken after she fell at her home and fractured a leg. Besides her son, she leaves two daughters.

Gilbert Underwood

BUCYRUS — Funeral services are to be conducted in Emerson, O. Wednesday for Gilbert Underwood, 68, buttermaker for the Smooth Kool dairy, who died following a heart attack Sunday. Burial will be made in Emerson. Mr. Underwood was born in Pennsylvania and came to Bucyrus 24 years ago. Survivors are the widow, Mary Edith Smith Underwood; a step daughter, Mrs. T. M. Heckert; a grandson; one brother, Chapman Underwood of State College, Pa., and three sisters, Miss Myra Underwood of State College, Pa., Mrs. Sue Fox of Fleming, Pa. and Mrs. Marie Ingram of Bellefonte, Pa.

Mrs. Maude Craig

CRESTLINE — Mrs. Maude Walker Craig, 58, wife of Verne Craig of a mile and a half southwest of Crestline, died at 7:30 p. m. Monday at the home of a brother, Reed Walker in Shelby. She had been at her brother's home two weeks, having been taken there because of ill health. Born July 5, 1889, in Springfield township, Richland county, she was married to Mr. Craig Feb. 21, 1912, and was a resident of the Crestline community 20 years. She was a member of the Presbyterian church here. Surviving with her husband are children, Mrs. Norman Neff of Crestline, and John Craig of Canton and Raymond of Columbus, and her brother. Funeral services will be conducted Thursday at 2:30 p. m. in the Orie Garverick funeral home here by Rev. Louis Swartz of Huron, formerly of Crestline. WEATHER stood at a high of 36 and a low of 12.

"Increasing cloudiness tonight followed by light snow; not so cold tonight and Wednesday" was the forecast issued today by the Columbus weather bureau for Marion and area.

Federal weather bureau forecasters said temperatures across the country—except in southern Florida—were below seasonal levels. The cold will continue, they said, although temperatures will moderate slowly.

Southern states got the worst of the February climatic capers—heavy falls of snow, rain and sleet and a drop in temperatures to far below freezing. Southern Florida escaped the wintry blasts and the mercury hovered around the 80 above mark yesterday.

The low readings today included 27 below at International Falls, Minn.; -19 at Caribou, Me., and -20 at Utica, N. Y.

MUSIC TICKET SALE OPENED

Press Plans for Harding Band and Orchestra Concerts at Palace.

With the sale of season tickets now underway for the Harding High school band and orchestra concerts to be held this month and in April, respectively, plans have been made for matinee concerts for fourth, fifth and sixth grade pupils of the city to be given by the band and orchestra in the afternoon of the same days on which the annual concerts are given. Both are to be presented at the Palace theater.

The matinee hour long concerts have been planned with the idea of presenting programs of interest to the younger boys and girls, Homer Huffman, director, announced.

As a part of each concert, several of the various instruments, those well known and also those not so well known by the pupils, will be demonstrated, and explanations of the selections as they are played will be given.

The string quartet from Miami university, Oxford, O., which is scheduled to play at the orchestra concert, will also play at the afternoon program.

Tickets for the matinees, which are to be given from 3 to 4 o'clock, are being distributed throughout the grade schools and are now on sale at 30 cents for the season ticket. Mr. Huffman has announced that he has arranged for the pupils planning to attend the concerts to be dismissed from school the afternoon of the concerts in time to get to the theater by 3 o'clock.

The band concert is to be given Thursday, Feb. 26, and the orchestra concert, April 8.

The ticket selling campaign, being conducted under the direction of the ways and means committee of the Band and Orchestra Parents association, sponsors, is now underway. Proceeds secured from the two concerts will go into the music fund for use in purchasing equipment for both the band and the orchestra.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Shock Treats Mental Disorder

One of the great advances of modern times is the so-called shock treatment for various mental disorders. Before it was discovered during the middle 30's, that in some unaccountable way a drastic physical shock set the mental processes back on the right track, little could be done for such people. Today, however, many types of mental illness can be improved or even cured entirely by this means.

One form of such illness which often responds to the shock treatment is schizophrenia. This disorder causes a distorted view of reality. Other patients benefited are those who are depressed and melancholy.

A good many different agents can be used to bring about the curative shock. One is a drug called metrazol. Another is insulin, which acts by lowering the blood sugar and producing unconsciousness.

Of late years, however, doctors have turned more and more to the use of electricity to produce shock. It has now been established that the electro-shock treatment can be carried out without putting the patient in a hospital. This is an advantage, of course, because hospital care is quite expensive.

Some people under such treatment can go outdoors, and tend to certain types of work. Furthermore, following the treatment, such patients do not need readjustment to home life as is required after they are hospitalized over a long period of time.

When the treatment is carried on outside of the hospital, dangers for the patient can be minimized by instructing the family to provide companionship, and to keep dangerous things, such as sharp knives, firearms, or drugs, out of the patient's reach. Drugs for quieting the nervous system can be provided for sleeplessness and to lessen tension.

Many patients who are suffering from only mild depression may recover in a few weeks. In schizophrenia, or split personality as it is called, the patient may require twenty or more treatments over a period of from six to ten weeks.

In carrying out the treatment, the patient is permitted to have a light breakfast, about two hours before the treatment is given.

After the electro-shock, the patient remains in bed until he is fully awake. A trained nurse remains with him until he is partially conscious, then a member of the family may sit with him until he is fully awake and can dress himself. He is then allowed to go home and resume his usual activities.

The after-care of the patient may require a period of rest and a preparation, such as aspirin, to relieve headache or muscle soreness.

Many patients having this form of treatment recover from depression and melancholia.

Questions and Answers

A Reader: I strained my foot badly two years ago. Could such a strain cause pain in my hip and shoulder? I had an X-ray taken and no bones are broken.

Answer: I hardly believe that the pain is due to the strain, although the strain might lead to some disorder of the hip due to muscle spasm. The best thing for you to do is to have a study made by an orthopedist to determine just what condition is present.

Through careless use of the land 50,000,000 acres have been destroyed in the United States and another 5,000,000 acres are almost in as bad condition.

COLLEGE MILE KING OF YEAR

New York Stock Quotations

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 10—Stocks turned downward all along the line today with the market averages touching a new low since early last June.

Dealings tapered after the opening but picked up subsequently as rails and industrials began to slide. Declines of 1 to 2 or more points were widespread near midday.

Offerings by professionals and brokerage customers were attributed to pessimism regarding domestic and foreign economic situations, taxes, erratic commodities and concern regarding the possibility that the recent break in staples may foreshadow a business recession in coming months.

Rock Island Railroad dropped when directors failed to initiate dividends. On the losing end were Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Illinois Central, U.S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, U.S. Rubber, Gulf Oil, Mission Corp., Standard Oil of California, International Harvester, Boeing, Johns-Manville, American Woolen, Texas Gulf Producing, American Can, Dupont and Kennecott.

MARION LIVESTOCK PRICES JOIN DROP

Lower prices prevailed at the Marion Producers Livestock Co-op association auction Monday. Top hogs were off approximately $1 a hundred from a week ago, bringing $23.65. Other livestock prices remained fairly steady, showing but slight decline under prices of the previous week. Total head offered by 284 consignors was 1,388. Cold weather was indicated as a factor in lessened volume of livestock offered rather than any fluctuation in market price.

Monday's price range follows:

Hog receipts 858; 140-160, 15.00@15.50; 160-180, 21.90; 180-240, 23.05; 240-300, 18.00@22.30; roughs 15.25@17.50; stags 13.75; No. feeder pigs 135 (included above) per cwt. 18.00@22.25.

Sheep and lamb receipts 625; choice lambs 23.15; good to choice lambs 22.00@23.00; medium lambs 19.00@22.00; culls and outs 15.00 down; aged sheep for slaughter 6.00@11.50; breeding ewes 10.00@17.50; native feeders 14.00@18.00.

Calves receipts 162; choice 32.00@33.75; good 28.00@32.00; medium 18.00@25.00; outs 16.00 down.

Cattle receipts 229; good steers and heifers 24.00@26.00; medium steers and heifers 20.00@24.00; common steers and heifers 14.00@20.00; good butcher cows 16.00@20.75; medium butcher cows 12.00@16.00; canner and cutter cows 8.00@12.00; bulls 15.00@20.50; stockers and feeders 15.00@18.00.

Printer Charged With Advertising a Lottery

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Feb. 10 — Authorities in neighboring Cleveland Heights today charged Frederick Schwabie, 51-year-old printer with advertising a lottery.

Schwabie's arrest, said Detective Lt. Charles Rurr, followed a tip from an informant who had read newspaper accounts of a raid on a lottery printing establishment in Alliance, O.

Posting $500 bail, Schwabie conceded he had printed lottery tickets for nine years but said he believed it no criminal offense, Ruff reported.

He will appear Monday before Municipal Judge David J. Miller.

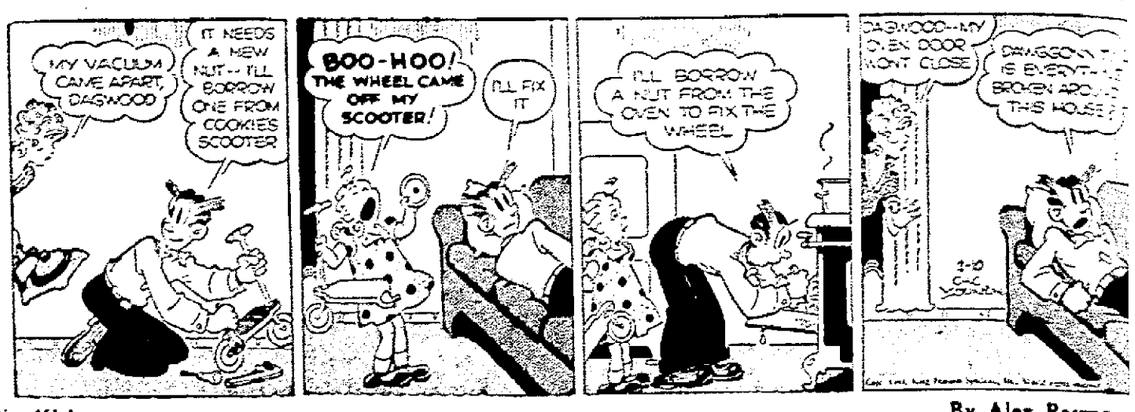
Blondie — By Chic Young

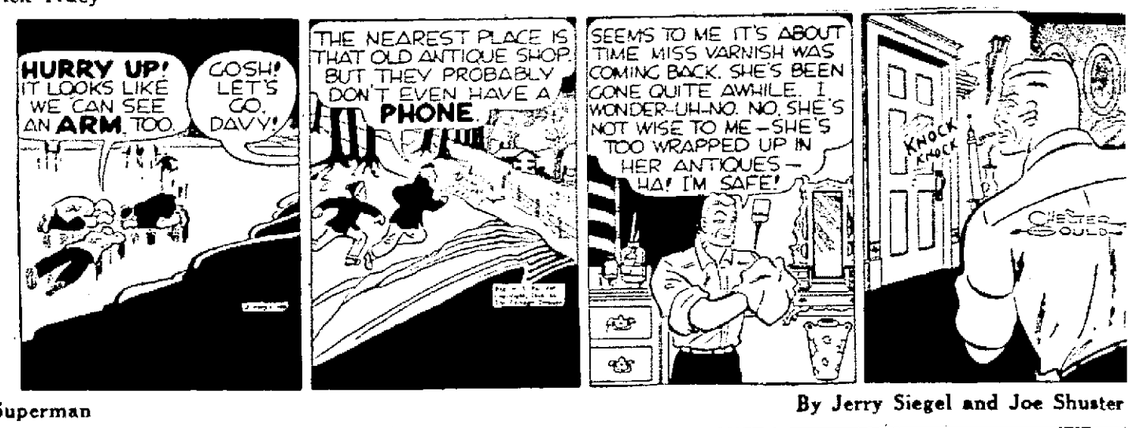


MY VACUUM CAME APART, DAGWOOD
IT NEEDS A NEW NUT— I'LL BORROW ONE FROM COOKIES SCOOTER
BOO-HOO! THE WHEEL CAME OFF MY SCOOTER!
I'LL FIX IT
I'LL BORROW A NUT FROM THE OVEN TO FIX THE WHEEL
DAGWOOD—MY OVEN DOOR WON'T CLOSE
DRAGGONE IT, IS EVERYTHING BROKEN AROUND THIS HOUSE?

Rip Kirby — By Alex Raymond

IS THERE NO NEWS OF LITTLE SHAWN, PAGAN?
I CAN'T REACH KIRBY OR DESMOND BY PHONE... BUT THAT'S A GOOD SIGN, DOLLY... SOMETHING MUST BE POPPING!
AT THE OFFICE OF STARLOCK'S ATTORNEY:
NICE TO SEE YOU AGAIN, MR. KIRBY. WHAT'S ON YOUR MIND?
WHERE IS DEREK STARLOCK, SIR? TWO WEEKS AGO, HE WANTED TO RETAIN ME...
HE'S OUT OF THE COUNTRY. EVEN I DON'T KNOW HIS WHEREABOUTS... AND THAT'S A FACT.
WIFE AND BABY GO WITH HIM?
KIRBY, I DON'T KNOW WHAT YOUR GAME IS... BUT DON'T TRY ANY OF YOUR TRICKS ON ME! THE STARLOCKS HAVE NO BABY! THEY TRIED, IN VAIN, TO ADOPT ONE!

Dick Tracy — By Chester Gould



HURRY UP! IT LOOKS LIKE WE CAN SEE AN ARM, TOO.
GOSH! LET'S GO, DAVY!
THE NEAREST PLACE IS THAT OLD ANTIQUE SHOP, BUT THEY PROBABLY DON'T EVEN HAVE A PHONE.
SEEMS TO ME IT'S ABOUT TIME MISS VARNISH WAS COMING BACK. SHE'S BEEN GONE QUITE AWHILE. I WONDER—UH—NO. NO, SHE'S NOT WISE TO ME—SHE'S TOO WRAPPED UP IN HER ANTIQUES— HA! I'M SAFE!
KNOCK KNOCK
CHESTER GOULD

Superman — By Jerry Siegel and Joe Shuster

IT PUZZLES ME, BUT THE SENSE OF SOMETHING CRIMINAL SEEMS TO COME FROM UNDER THE WATER!
GREAT SCOTT! YOU'RE RIGHT.
WAIT THERE! I'M GOING DOWN!
MY-MY! WHAT CAN IT BE?
GEMS—JEWELS—CURRENCY—ALL SORTS OF THINGS! A REGULAR SUNKEN TREASURE TROVE! HM! THERE CAN BE ONLY ONE EXPLANATION!

Gasoline Alley — By Frank King

WHAT GOES, HONEY? I SUPPOSE A LOT OF YAKITY-YAK ABOUT YOUR RELATIVES?
YES, DARLING. AUNT HESSIE IS BRINGING ME UP-TO-DATE ON EVERYBODY.
YOU MAY BE THRILLED, BUT I HAVE A HUNCH IT IS GOING IN ONE EAR AND OUT THE OTHER.
THE WAY TO ENTERTAIN HER, SKEEZIX, IS JUST TO LET THE BREEZE BLOW ON THROUGH.

Joe Palooka — By Ham Fisher

YOU TAKE A NAP, KNOBBY, JERRY AND I WILL BE IN THE OTHER ROOM.
ALL RIGHT, RAY. LET ME SLEEP AS LONG AS I CAN.
GEE... I WISH I COULD FALL ASLEEP. I CAN'T TELL THEM I HAVEN'T SLEPT TWO HOURS A NIGHT SINCE I THOUGHT I SAW ANN.
RAY QUIETLY TURNED THE KNOB AND LOOKED IN... JOE HEARD HIM AND CLOSED HIS EYES.
HE'S SLEEPING PEACEFULLY, WE'LL LET HIM SLEEP FOR ANOTHER HALF HOUR. THEN WE'VE GOT TO START FOR THE GARDEN.
DON'T BE NOYISS...I GOT ALL TH' CONFIDENCE IN TH' WORLD.
YOU! WHO AST YA?

Terry and the Pirates — By George Wunder

IF EVERYTHING'S SET, MR. VAN SOBLIN, WE CAN GO OUT TO THE PLANE NOW.
BY ALL MEANS, CAPTAIN. I AM MOST ANXIOUS THAT WE GET STARTED AT ONCE.
THE SHIP IS RIGHT OVER... HEY! THERE'S A SIEL... WHO...?
OH, YES! MY DAUGHTER, MOTLEY. AFRAID I FORGOT TO MENTION HER BEFORE. SHE WILL ACCOMPANY ME.
MY, MY! LOOK AT THE TALL BLOND ONE! FATHER, DARLING! YOU'VE RESCUED MY ILLUSIONS. AFTER MEETING THE CO-PILOT, I WAS AFRAID THAT INTERESTING BIRD MEN WOULD BE RUNNING A LITTLE SCRAWNY THIS SEASON.

The Gumps — By Gus Edson

OH, WELL—HALF A LOAF IS BETTER THAN NONE—I MIGHT AS WELL SIGN—
THAT'S DOWNRIGHT SENSIBLE OF YOU—AND JUST TO SHOW THERE ARE NO HARD FEELINGS, I'LL TREAT TO DINNER... WHERE DO WE KEEP THE PETTY CASH?
I'M MR. AVERAGE!
HEY, PEDESTRIAN! DO YOU KNOW WHO MR. AVERAGE IS? —ME!
AND I'M THE WALKING MAN...
IF THE PUBLIC FINDS OUT THAT GUMP IS MR. AVERAGE—THEY'LL LAUGH THE WHOLE CAMPAIGN OUT OF EXISTENCE!
HEY, SONNY! WHICH WAY DO I GUESS AND MR. AVERAGE IS?
